U. S. Tennis Stars Play Before Rulers

AMERICAN PLAYERS IN GAIN

Richards Defeats Jap; Mrs. Wightman and Miss Wills Also Win

LENGLEN WINS IN DOUBLES CONTEST

U. S. Male Team Lowers Colors of Frenchman In Hard Struggle

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26.—The King and Queen today watched young Vinnie Richards, America's hope in the Wimbledon tournament, crash his way to victory over T. Harada, the Japanese player. Richards won handily, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

It is estimated that 18,000 persons were on hand when the tournament opened today. A hot sun blazed down on the courts which made play fast.

The opening match of the tournament saw the veteran, Norman Brookes, Australian, eliminate F. Hunter of the American team. The Australian had difficulty in the first set, it going to the five set limit. Hunter started off by taking the first set. The score: 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

The American doubles team, Williams and Washburn, defeated the French team, Lacoste and Borotra, 5-7, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 and 6-3.

Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills also performed before the British rulers, the latter being paired with Mrs. George Wightman to defeat Mrs. Craddock and Miss Barton, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Lenglen was coupled with the Californian, Elizabeth Ryan, and they easily defeated Miss E. M. Head and Miss E. H. Clarke, 6-0, 6-3.

Another American victory today was that of Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup over Miss Colegate and Miss Tyrell, 6-4, 6-3.

Woman Sues to Eject Tenants

Seeking to eject her tenants from a small store building at 119 East Center street, Anaheim, Adele S. Browning had today filed suit in the superior court here against Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Brown, who hold a lease on the property.

The plaintiff claims that the tenants are in arrears with rental to the extent of $90. This sum, she claims, she has been unable to collect for several months, and she is asking judgment against the defendants.

Harbor Realty Dinner Delayed

Postponement of the Harbor Realty club's dinner to July 11 was decided upon at a meeting held yesterday, the sudden death of W. A. Irwin, prominent member of the club, it was stated today, being the cause for making the change.

At the July 11 meeting the realtors of Orange, together with their feminine guests, will meet with the realty men and women of the harbor district.

R. B. Tudor, chairman, and A. E. Twist, H. L. Andrews and E. A. Spaulding are members of the entertainment committee. They will be assisted in welcoming the women visitors by Mrs. H. H. Williamson, Mrs. Glen Wallace, Mrs. George Neill and Mrs. T. O. Jay.

Man's Suit Makes Desertion Claim

Charging desertion, a divorce complaint brought by Herbert J. Wagner against Mary Jo Wagner, of Santa Ana, was on file today in the superior court here.

The Wagners were married in San Bernardino August 13, 1919, and separated here June 1, 1923.

Salt Lake Baseball Team Soon To Go To Long Beach, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Long Beach will possess the Salt Lake Bees Coast league franchise within a month, according to the prediction of big baseball men here today.

President Harry A. Williams is understood to be discussing the proposed change with directors of the league. Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Francisco clubs have come out in favor of the transfer, it is stated, while the other teams have taken no definite stand.

Despite the fact that W. H. Lane, president of the Bees, has opposed a change, it is declared Salt Lake's refusal to support the team makes it necessary. Visiting clubs have averaged a $2000 loss each week this season in Salt Lake engagements, it is said.

Seeks Report On Death Of L. A. Japs

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—At the request of K. Wakasugi, consul of Japan here, Dist. Atty. Kiyes was preparing a complete report today of the official investigation of the alleged threats made by sixteen residents of Belvedere against three Japanese recently.

A party of 3 women and six men was said to have threatened M. Kawamoto, his wife, and Y. Naito unless they moved out of Belvedere. The disturbance grew out of the refusal of George Wilson, owner of the house, to oust the three who were his tenants.

NOTED DRY WORKER IN L. A. RAID

"Pussyfoot" Sniffs Out Still and Aids Officers In Dumping Out Mash.

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—"Pussyfoot" Johnson, famed temperance worker, can leave the city whenever he has a mind to insofar as James Ashton, East Fifty-seventh street resident, is concerned.

At the head of a police dry squad, Johnson, now on a speaking tour of Southern California, passed Ashton's residence, sniffed suspiciously, and led the officers within, where they found a still steaming merrily.

"Pussyfoot" smashed several barrels of mash, remarking at the time that he always thought Los Angeles a dry community, "but now, I don't know, I don't know—"

DISABLED VETS URGE FORBES CONVICTION

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 26.—By unanimous vote, delegates to the fourth annual convention of the disabled veterans of the World war, in convention here, adopted a resolution demanding the prosecution of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the veterans' bureau, for his alleged mismanagement of affairs of the bureau.

The resolution was adopted following the annual report of Commander James A. MacFarland in which reference was made to two indictments now pending against Colonel Forbes, growing out of a probe of the bureau.

Today's proceedings were marked by further presentation of committee reports and addresses by officers of the Service Star legion and the women's auxiliary to the Veterans organization, representatives of the Red Cross and the Knights of Columbus.

SEA'S GLOW WORMS

HAMBURG, June 26.—The noctiluca at last under lock and key! The noctiluca are salt water "lightning bugs" and they have been captured after months of patient effort by Professor Knut Hamdorf of Hamburg. Cooped up in a bottle and taken into a dark room, they glow like fireflies and glow worms.

FLOORS 'LOVE NEST' CASE MAN

LOVE PIRACY IS BLAMED ON 'JAG'

Bigamy Case Man Declares 'Canned Heat' Cause of Marriage In S. A.

Declaring that he had been drinking "canned heat" and knew nothing whatever of his asserted marriage in this city to Helen Kellogg, daughter of H. Clay Kellogg, Santa Ana pioneer, while he already had a legal wife in Los Angeles, George L. Gorman, 24, was sentenced by Judge F. C. Drumm in superior court here today to serve a term of from one to ten years at Folsom penitentiary.

Waiving his preliminary examination before Justice Jack Landell, Gorman pleaded guilty to bigamy in the superior court. He was sentenced immediately.

Gorman was sent to Folsom instead of San Quentin prison because of a previous felony conviction. He had served a term for embezzlement, it was said, and was under parole for another offense, officers stated.

In court today Gorman told Judge Drumm that he had no recollection of having married the local girl.

"Do you drink or use drugs?" the court asked him.

"I don't know what you'd call it," answered Gorman. "I drank this canned heat."

Following the filing of a bigamy charge against him several weeks ago, Gorman was captured at Phoenix, Ariz.

SAY PREMIER'S SON WROTE 'RED' NOVEL

LONDON, June 27.—"Konyets," a newly published novel, which deals with the conquest of the world by the proletariat, is attracting wide attention in England, because, it is whispered, the author is Oliver Baldwin, Socialist son of Stanley Baldwin, ex-prime minister and Tory leader.

Young Baldwin, who criticized his father's government in the last election, has not admitted authorship, but the fact it is dedicated to the Armenian Socialist party, in which he is interested, seems to point to him.

The novel is signed by "Martin Hussingtree"—the name of a delightful village near Worcester, the Baldwin home.

The main theme is the proletarian conquest of the world. Russia begins it, the Turks join in and Germany joins Red. Great Britain, with a Labor government in power, remains stubbornly pacifist, though Australia is overrun by Japanese.

BATTLE OVER KLAN, LEAGUE DELAYS DEMOCRATS IN TASK OF TURNING OUT PLATFORM

Drafting Committee Adjourns With All But Two Questions Settled; "Wet" Bomb Proves Dud; Convention to Receive Document Tomorrow

(By United Press Leased Wire)
UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Waldorf Hotel, New York, June 26.—Presentation of the platform to the Democratic convention is now scheduled for tomorrow.

After working through most of the night and for several hours today, the drafting sub-committee was still hard at it while the Smith demonstration was in progress at the garden.

All but the two principal planks—the Klan and the League of Nations—had been virtually disposed of and the committee decided to recess at 3 o'clock this afternoon until tomorrow. The sub-committee will then report to the full committee and the Klan and League planks will be finally thrashed out by that body.

All the alternative planks, representing the extreme and moderate views on both League and Klan have been drafted, and the adoption of compromise declarations on both issues by the committee was virtually assured.

The sub-committee still found itself unable to agree on the League and Klan planks during today and altering proposals will now be carried before the full committee. The League faction headed by former Secretary of War Baker is insisting upon a flat declaration for entrance into the League. The other faction would endorse the League, but insert a provision for a referendum on the question.

The Smith-McAdoo forces continued their fight for a direct denunciation of the Klan by name during today.

Would Dodge Klan
Two of McAdoo's leaders—W. R. Hollister of Missouri, Robert W. Woolley of Kentucky—called on the members of the sub-committee during the morning. The McAdoo outfit is making a strenuous effort to avoid mention of the Klan, but the full committee will now have to pass on the question.

With this situation prevailing, the committee may sit most of tonight in order to have the platform completed in time for presentation tomorrow.

New planks were brought forth and adopted as part of the tentative draft of the platform during today's session. They included a plank calling for an immediate cleanup of the war veterans bureau, adequate salaries for postal employees and a federal "blue sky" law.

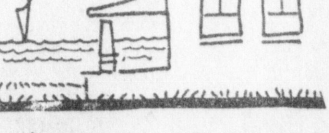

The means the final decision will be squarely up to the convention itself. Whether the extremists make good their threats to "carry the fight to the floor" remains to be seen, but leaders generally believe such action will be forestalled.

Score Secret Bodies
The Klan plank which meets with almost unanimous favor in the committee is a vigorous denunciation of all secret organizations which seek to impair racial equality and religious freedom but does not mention the Klan by name.

"The wet bombing" proved to be a dud. Agitation for a wet plank fizzled out. This plank, as adopted, calls for strict law enforcement, and goes further in administering a stinging rebuke to the Republican administration for failure to properly enforce the dry law. It was adopted with little opposition.

A new plank insofar as Democratic platforms are concerned provides for a referendum on war. This was written into the platform by William J. Bryan. It would also amend the Constitution, which gives the President the right to declare war with the consent of congress and place such power entirely in the hands of the people.

Clash Over League
The League of Nations proved to be the most troublesome subject the committee had to wrestle with. The plank which has the general approval of the committee is a deft compromise between the ideas advanced by former Associate Justice Clark of the supreme court and Owen D. Young, colleague of General Dawes on the German re-

COURTROOM DOOR SCENE OF CLASH

Posting of Bail By Women and 2 Men Climaxed As Wife Accuser Hit

Pugilistic fireworks, in which an asserted wronged husband was attacked and knocked unconscious at the courtroom door by the man he accused of despoiling his home, provided a sensational climax to a hearing of an alleged "love nest" case today in Justice Jack Landell's court here.

O. W. Dehne, 1283 Orange avenue, was the victim of the asserted assault which was said to have been made upon him by A. L. Aubuchon, Laguna Beach, just after Aubuchon, with another man and two women, one of whom was Dehne's wife, had been arraigned before Justice Jack Landell on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Dehne's 4-year-old daughter.

Aubuchon accordingly was held in jail under $1000 bail on a charge of assault and battery, beside facing the delinquency charge, for which he had just posted $250 bail. He expected also to supply the additional amount.

Women Give Bail
Earl Davidson, 28, Aubuchon, 37, and the two women, Mrs. Amelia Dehne, 25, and Fannie Mohr, 22, were arrested on the delinquency charge in a raid on an asserted "love nest" by the police at Orange late yesterday. Dehne swore to the complaint against them.

The quartette appeared before Justice Landell today and gave bail pending their preliminary hearing, which was set for July 9 at 9 a. m. The women each gave $200 bail, the men $250 each. As the proceedings were concluded today Aubuchon was said to have beckoned to Dehne, who followed him into the corridor. Just outside the courtroom door, it was said, Aubuchon turned upon Dehne and with a mighty blow to the face stretched the latter upon the floor, senseless. Aubuchon then stepped back into the courtroom and addressed Justice Landell.

Inform Court
"Judge," he said, "I just slapped a man outside. What'll my fine be?"

Unaware of what had happened the court informed Aubuchon that there was no complaint against him. Aubuchon then departed.

Spectators passing from the courtroom discovered Dehne lying in a small pool of blood. Reviving him they learned what had happened. Dehne then swore to the assault and battery complaint against Aubuchon who was shortly located and brought back into court.

In fixing bail at $1000, Justice Landell told Aubuchon that "this matter of attacking witnesses at the door of the courtroom is a serious one and will not be tolerated by this court."

Fail to Identify Death Plunge Man

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Although viewed by scores of people from the roof of a downtown office building yesterday was today still unidentified. All marks which might give authorities a clue had been removed from his clothing. Only a handkerchief bearing the letter "W" and a perfume bottle were in his pockets.

"30" BULLETINS

SYDNEY, Australia, June 26.—Seismographs here today registered several severe earthquakes; shocks, which seemed to be in the vicinity of Port Moresby, New Guinea.

LONDON, June 26.—A central News dispatch says the American round the world flyers have reached Calcutta. They flew from Akyab.

CALCUTTA, June 26.—The Army Round the World flyers left Akyab for this city today.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Forty cars oranges and eight cars lemons sold today. Orange market 10 to 15 cents higher. Prices ranged from $2.78 to $2.27. Highest price paid for ten boxes Altissimo, $7.75. Lemon market steady; prices ranged from $3.69 to $6.12. Weather clear; temperature 8 a. m., 68.

Night Session Urged to Speed Action

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 26.—Discussion of a night session for the Democratic convention was under way this afternoon in event the nominating speeches are concluded.

Senator Pat Harrison, one of the convention steersmen, was moving about sounding out sentiment for such a session. Harrison's idea was that the convention should meet again tonight and take four or five ballots for presidential electors before receiving the platform report.

Harrison believes that by giving the leaders and dark horses an opportunity for a preliminary gallop, much progress might be made.

WOMEN WILL SEEK POWER IN CONGRESS

Leaders Score Action of Both Big Parties; Plan to Enter Fight For Seats.

UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Waldorf Hotel, New York, June 26.—A "woman's bloc" in congress is now to be sought by the national women's party because of the failure of both the Republican and Democratic conventions to endorse an equal right amendment, Alice Paul, vice president of the party, announced this afternoon.

"We shall proceed as rapidly as possible to discover in the various states women candidates whom we can support," a statement from Miss Paul said. "It will make no difference to us on what ticket they run so long as they will fight the woman's fight after they are in office."

ARREST FOUR ON LIQUOR, GUN CHARGES

When City Marshal Martin E. Jamison of Orange saw a green car speeding along the boulevard near Placencia yesterday afternoon he arrested the four occupants on suspicion and when he searched the car he said he found a gallon of wine, a vacuum bottle filled with the same liquid, and two pints of high voltage brandy.

The men gave their names as Pat Zona, 31, Bell; P. Vito, 49, Cudahy ranch, Los Angeles; Michael Santit, 28, Cudahy ranch, Los Angeles; Peter Carlisle, 21, Bell.

Jamison said that in the side pocket of the car he found a revolver and that Zona admitted ownership of the weapon. The four will appear before Justice of the Peace Henry Hart at Fullerton this afternoon. They are now being held in the city jail at Fullerton.

Wife Sues Hubby Declared to Have $10,000 Account

Nine months of married life saw the wreck of William and Elizabeth Blesner's romance, it was alleged today in the wife's suit for divorce, on file in the superior court here.

Living at Seal Beach after their marriage September 25, 1923, Blesner was violently cruel to his wife, she alleged. He blacked her eyes and threatened to kill her, she declared. Mrs. Blesner asks for temporary alimony, alleging that her husband has $10,000 in the bank.

Ghosts Of Old New York Heroes Stir During Ovation For Smith

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 26.—Almost within a stone's throw of where he was born and as a youth ran barefoot on the hot pavements, drove a truck and the hand in the balcony blared out "Annie Rooney," "The Market on Saturday Night," "After the Ball," "East Side, West Side" and "The Bicycle Built For Two," and the memories of Tony Baccalupo, the undertaker of Mott street, Diamond Dan O'Rourke and Judge Andy Dwyer were stirred anew.

Those were the days when Irving Berlin was a singing waiter at Nigger Mike Satter's palm room in Dover street and the cash registers jangled in the "flea bag" and the "plug hat."

And down in the audience were some who have bridged the distance, witnessed the changes in political New York and who 30 years ago would

Bitter Fight Looms Between McAdoo-Smith Forces Over Adjourning

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 26.—The anti-McAdoo forces won a technical victory over the McAdoo forces in a test vote late today on the question of adjournment. The McAdoo forces sought to go ahead with business tonight after a recess until 7:30 and so moved. George Brennan of Illinois and Ed Moore of Ohio, united with the Smith-New York delegation in opposing this move and in seeking adjournment until tomorrow morning. A call of the states was made and the official vote was: Yes, 555½—in favor of the McAdoo plan and 513½, No. A two-thirds vote was necessary for McAdoo to win. There were, however, several delegations that voted against the McAdoo leaders on this score that are lined up with McAdoo in the race for the nomination. The vote was taken after disorder had become so great as to almost prevent the conduct of convention business. In fact, at one point Chairman Walsh threatened to entertain a motion to move the convention to another city if it proved impossible to get the order desired.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 26.—"Our Own Al Smith."

The magic words touched off an explosion in Madison Square Garden just 32 minutes after 12 o'clock today unprecedented in the history of the great political conventions.

In solid mass the New York delegation leaped to its feet as Franklin D. Roosevelt concluded his speech placing Smith in nomination. From every corner of the garden, floor, ceiling and it appeared every seat—there arose the deafening shriek of sirens, blare of horns and whistles, rattle of tick tacks and through it all there could be faintly heard the mad efforts of several bands.

The parade got under way, New York's delegation in the van and the New York banner borne aloft by Joseph Collins, president of the board of alderman.

Many States In Line
Alaska, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Nevada, Vermont, North Dakota, Hawaii and Iowa, were among the standards which told into the line.

Now and then, from out of the bedlam, a group of men would manage to be heard in unison singing "The Sidewalks of New York." A band would pass a given point. "East Side, West Side," it played and then passed from sight and hearing. Just constant, sustained noise swept everything before it.

When the demonstration had been under way twenty minutes it was precariously organized, loud and unanimous as it was with the first deafening shriek.

The greatest crowd that ever packed Madison Square Garden was jammed into the structure by noon. Police lines were thrown about the building, all traffic was stopped and orders were issued that no one should be permitted to even approach the Garden. The building was packed to the doors and thousands were standing in the aisles. What seemed to be thousands crashed through the doors without tickets and flooded the galleries. All of them were Smith boosters.

By 12:15 the police cancelled all credentials. Newspapermen were barred and delegates and reporters who happened to leave the hall could not get through the line again to return.

Parts of the Missouri delegation and all of the Kansas delegation remained seated throughout the demonstration, either out of respect for their own favorite sons or in loyalty to William G. McAdoo. A similar course was followed

TO RETURN FILM OF WAR SCENES

Scores of Santa Anans were interested in the announcement made today that "Flashes of Action," a film presented at the Temple here the past three nights will be shown here again in two weeks. Presented under the auspices of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, the film drew a capacity house every night. Jack Fisher, a post member, declared that the large attendance attested the fact that the showing of actual scenes of the World war had gripped the community. He asserted that hundreds had been unable to gain admission to the theater, and that for this reason decision had been made to return the picture here at the earliest date possible—probably in two weeks. The original prologue put on by members of the local post offered an insight to camp life of the boys behind the fighting lines.

RE-ELECT NUT OFFICIALS AS RECORD TOLD

Disclosing the fact that it marketed approximately $9,000,000 worth of walnuts last year at substantially 1923 prices, while other California foodstuffs were being sold at declines from 1923 prices which ranged from 15 to 50 per cent, the California Walnut Growers' association, it was reported here today, held its annual meeting yesterday and re-elected all of its officers.

The officers are C. C. Teague, president; Ralph McNees, vice-president; Carlyle Thorpe, general manager; W. T. Webber, secretary-treasurer; Claude B. Payne, assistant secretary; George E. Farand, general counsel.

Fewer Culls
Despite a general demoralization of markets in 1923, the walnut association closed a successful season, the annual report of Thorpe showed.

The organization packed and sold 39,763,800 pounds of unshelled walnuts, against an output of 40,111,800 pounds in 1922, and the opening price value of that crop was $8,961,906 against $9,213,700 for the previous year.

The average gross price received for last year's crop was 22.5 cents per pound, compared with 22.8 cents for 1922.

The quality of the crop, according to Thorpe, was superior to that of the previous season, cull walnuts making up only 6.5 per cent of the entire output, as against 14.2 per cent during the former year. The association handled 81.5 per cent of all the walnuts grown in this state, showing a tonnage gain of about 1 per cent for the year.

Nuts Marketed Early
One of the things which strongly favored successful marketing, according to Webber, was the fact that the growers succeeded in getting 97.3 per cent of the entire crop into the first pool. This made it possible to distribute a heavy percentage of it early in the winter, when consumer demand was strong.

The production of budded walnuts, according to Thorpe's report, has increased 1155 per cent within the last nine years, this being an increase from 318 to 3687 tons. The association paid local growers' associations the gross opening price of the crop less only 5 1/2 per cent for sales, service, and advertising cost. According to Thorpe, 1923 was the first season in which the association made prompt payments for all deliveries without borrowing money. The organization, he added, is in a decidedly healthy condition.

LIONS CLUB AT ORANGE HEARS POWER TALK

ORANGE, June 26.—The shortage of electricity and the necessity of its conservation were the main topics of discussion at the Lions club luncheon held here yesterday in the Masonic hall.

John F. Reyer, the district superintendent of the Edison company, gave a short but interesting talk concerning the electricity shortage. Mr. Reyer recommended many ways in which electricity could be saved, suggested the closing of dancing pavilions at nine o'clock, churches holding union meetings, and the careful use of electricity in homes.

Mr. Reyer stated: "We were asked to conserve on electricity, and it was not done, therefore, drastic action had to be taken. According to the allotment now given, we shall have cut our present usage of electricity nearly 50 per cent."

In explaining the cause for this shortage, Mr. Reyer stated that Huntington lake usually has five times the amount of water it is holding at present, and that it is from Huntington lake that a great deal of the water is taken to produce the electricity of the Edison company.

Mr. Reyer told the club that 90 per cent of the power used in this district is used by industries, and only the remaining 10 per cent is used by the homes. The members of the club unanimously decided to do all in their

MERRYMAKERS TO APPEAR FOR KFAW

Cliff Arnold's Merry-makers will be featured on tonight's KFAW radio program. This orchestra was heard at The Register studio last Thursday and proved to be a clever and entertaining group of musicians.

They will present a well-selected program of the latest popular dance hits, from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. Arnold's Merry-makers are composed of these musicians: Cliff Arnold and Raymond Loesser, saxophones and clarinets; Leslie Carmack, trumpet; Louise Ward, piano, and Bill Cook, drums. Arnold is the director.

Maria, Mari! (Edoardo di Capua) Neapolitan 1013 1.50
Carmé (G. B. De Curtis) In Italian Rosa Ponselle

You may know these songs, among the most impressive of the hundreds which have sprung up in and about Naples. But you should hear them sung by this glorious young soprano! Into these records she has poured such floods of tone and such a warmth of emotion as you may not hear again for many a day.

Light Vocal Selections

June Brought the Roses Marcia Freer 19347 .75
Waiting for the Dawn and You Lewis James

Popular songs of emotional type. Marcia Freer has made no lovelier record than this, with its dream-laden harmonies. James' song is a fine companion—sung with great power and with sympathetic earnestness. If you like songs of sentiment, these records will particularly appeal to you.

Recitations

Out Fishin' and The Junk Box Edgar Guest 45419 1.00
Bread and Gravy and Pretending Not to See Edgar Guest

Edgar Guest has attained to a reputation beyond that ever enjoyed by any "serious" American poet. Here are two new and very characteristic records of his, devoted to the theorem that the world is a pleasant place to live in. You will want to hear him on this record.

Dance Records

Pale Moon—Fox Trot Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra 19345 .75
Fox Trot Classique—Fox Trot (Introducing "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water"—"To a Wild Rose") Jean Goldkette and His Orchestra

Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra have a magnificent number based on a song from American-Indian themes. The melodies are half-barbaric, but you will dance it down to the last note. The "Fox Trot Classique" uses songs of Cadman and McDowell; it has one or two of those pauses in the melody which interest good dancers. Everybody dances well to such records as these!

Big Boy!—Fox Trot Ted Weems and His Orchestra 19344 .75
Savannah—Fox Trot Ted Weems and His Orchestra

If you want a lively fox trot, here it is. "Big Boy" is a clearly accented, spirited number which Weems presents in vigorous manner. "Savannah" is in almost similar style, but a trifle more smooth. Excellent records that show why Victor dance music enjoys such popularity.

Wa-Wa-Waddle Walk—Fox Trot Waring's Pennsylvanians 19346 .75
Nobody's Sweetheart—Fox Trot Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra

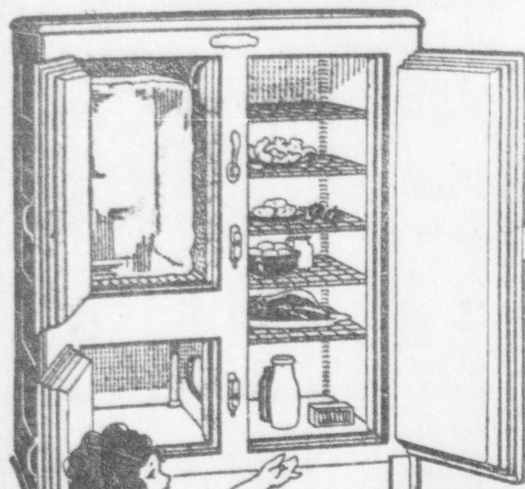

The first number is a funny one, with odd yet always musical effects. The second number has unusual rhythms, and fine muted brass and piano passages. Victor recording presents them both in a way that brings the utmost pleasure to dance-lovers.

A WORD OF COMFORT
The mystery which surrounds the life beyond is like the mystery of all things and all the happiness you have already known. The mysterious is not unreal; it only eludes explanation. You have experienced here joys you cannot understand but you count them precious indeed. Paradise is even more real beyond the bounds of time and space. Live expectantly toward it however dim it seems.

The Cheerful Cherub

Ants are such dull little insects, grubbing and saving all day. Butterflies never can teach them Life is for beauty and play.

Arrangements were being completed today for funeral services to be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow, at the Smith and Tutill chapel here, for Judge Minard Luther Orcutt, who died yesterday morning at his summer home, 210 West Central avenue, East Newport.

Christian Science services will be held, with Mrs. L. L. Garrigues of Balboa, as reader. The body later will be taken to Los Angeles for cremation.

Mr. Orcutt had been prominent in beach circles and in Los Angeles for eighteen years. He was a member of the Jonathan Club, Los Angeles, and the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

Born in New York City, Mr. Orcutt entered business pursuits after reaching his majority. He was an auditor and expert accountant. For years he was identified there with a wholesale grocery firm and later was engaged in the real estate business.

Coming to Los Angeles eighteen years ago, Mr. Orcutt took up real estate operations and was a member of the firm of the McDonald and Stott company. For the past five years he has made his home at East Newport, with his family maintaining a home in Los Angeles. He had served Newport Beach city one term as city recorder.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Sugar and Nardine Orcutt, who are living at the family home at Los Angeles.

Persons whose residences or places of business are in the district from Ross street to French street between First and Church streets, including both sides of the bordering streets, are urged by City Engineer W. G. Knox to place their garbage cans at the street curb to be collected by the recently scheduled night service truck, which now operates in this zone every night.

Where downtown alleys are closed during construction work, it is necessary that the garbage cans be placed at the street curb in front of the buildings, as the garbage collectors have been ordered to stay out of closed alleys.

S. T. Craig of 1519 Dresser street today obtained a building permit for the construction of a five-room residence at 1512 Dresser street.

The new home will cost $1950, according to W. S. Decker, city building inspector.

Relatives of a young man named O. M. Shinnault, who is known to be somewhere in the vicinity of Santa Ana, have solicited the aid of the post office and the police department in getting word to him that his father "is in a very low state of health" in Booneville, Miss. Persons who know the young man are urged to communicate with officials of the police department or post office here.

Members of the Sunday school of the Church of the Messiah held a picnic yesterday at the county park.

Cecil Birtcher of Santa Ana, a member of the Glee club of the University of Southern California, is appearing this week with the U. S. C. singers at the Colorado, theatre, Denver, according to word received here today. The singers are making a successful tour this summer and are being well received.

Victor Edmunds, Welsh tenor, who is said to be a favorite in Los Angeles musical circles, will sing Sunday night at the First Methodist church here, it was announced today. Edmunds sang here a few weeks ago. He will be assisted by Lambert Baker, a baritone of considerable promise. Mr. Baker is the son-in-law of the Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the church.

Because of numerous requests on the part of women members of the Y. M. C. A. for instruction in the games of chess and checkers, an announcement was made today that E. F. Westcott, chess and checker instructor for the "Y," would be at the building at 1:30 p. m. Saturday to instruct beginners in the two games.

To inspect lemon groves of the county, said to have been seriously injured by the use of certain sprays recently, T. D. Urbans, entomologist from the state department of agriculture, at Sacramento, was in the county today.

H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, will go to La Habra tomorrow to assist members of the farm center there, and others in selecting a site, which a committee of La Habra citizens will offer to the University of California for a proposed branch. La Habra is in competition with a number of towns in the southern part of the state for the new branch.

"Lots of rain and hot weather," experienced during his trip through Middle West and Eastern states, made George Gugueti, Laguna Beach resident, wish he were back in Orange county, a letter registered from Gugueti by The Register today disclosed. The letter was written at Dayton, O., as the Laguna Beach man and his party were preparing to leave for Washington, D. C., New York and other Eastern cities.

Causes Arrest of Dog Quarrel Man

A neighborly quarrel over dogs, details of which were not disclosed to the authorities, resulted today in the filing of a charge of battery by Harry Kelsey against his neighbor, James Silvia.

The two men reside near Cypress and became embroiled in the altercation yesterday. Kelsey claimed that Silvia attacked him

JUDGE ORCUTT DEATH VICTIM AT BEACH

Arrangements were being completed today for funeral services to be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow, at the Smith and Tutill chapel here, for Judge Minard Luther Orcutt, who died yesterday morning at his summer home, 210 West Central avenue, East Newport.

Christian Science services will be held, with Mrs. L. L. Garrigues of Balboa, as reader. The body later will be taken to Los Angeles for cremation.

WOMAN IS GUM TREE DISPUTE DEFENDANT

The old question of whether "gum trees" may be maintained along property lines, to the detriment of adjacent land, was revived today for consideration of the superior court here, when two actions were brought against Mrs. Clara Turton, owner of a ranch at West Orange, by owners of two adjoining ranches.

In one action, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Todd asked $2000 damages, caused, they claim, by the long and greedy roots of the gum trees, which are said to extend eighty feet into the soil of the Todd ranch. An injunction to require removal of the trees, or the digging of a trench to prevent the roots from extending across the property line, was also sought.

In a similar action, V. H. Fross, another neighbor of Mrs. Turton, seeks $3000 damages.

Both suits were filed through the firm of Bishop and Wellington, Santa Ana attorneys.

Ranchers of this and other counties, it is said, have long been confronted by the issue thus presented to the court. A settlement was believed in sight some months ago when a similar legal action was taken by a rancher at Tustin against his neighbor. A court decision was averted, however, when the case was settled by the purchase of land from the plaintiff by the defendant, who thus removed the source of controversy.

Infant Hurt When Automobiles Hit

An infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill of Anaheim was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital here shortly before noon today suffering with cuts about the face and body and injuries it sustained when the small car driven by Hill was in collision with a truck driven by C. Columbine, at First and Spurgeon streets.

The infant, a young sister and the father were the occupants of the Hill car. None of the others was hurt.

The car was damaged, but not demolished when they smashed together at the intersection.

INCREASE OLIVE FIRM'S WATER RATES, WORD

The Olive Investment company has been authorized by the railroad commission to increase its rates slightly, according to notification received here today, in order to care for maintenance and operation expense, depreciation annuity, and a reasonable return on that portion of the investment properly chargeable to present consumers.

"The commission, however, the report added, 'refused to grant an increase of rates to produce a full return on the entire investment, holding that the system is overbuilt for present requirements, and such a return on the full investment would be unfair to present consumers.'

"The new rates will be as follows: Monthly meter rates—From 0 to 400 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, $3.75; from 400 to 1000, $2.50; all over 1000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, $2.00. Monthly minimum rates—For 5-8 inch meter, $1.50; for 3-4 inch meter, $2.50; for 1 inch meter, $4; for 1½ inch meter, $8; for 2 inch meter, $12.

The Olive Milling company has been authorized by the railroad commission to sell its public utility water system to the Olive Irrigation company, which is authorized to issue not exceeding $32,000 of common stock in order to make payment.

A. B. Watson, manager here of the Crown Stage lines, has asked the railroad commission for a certificate to operate a motor express service between Riverside, Corona, Santa Ana and intermediate points.

J. C. Best applied to the railroad commission for permission to sell to H. V. Iredell an auto stage line operated between Santa Ana, San Juan Capistrano, Serra, and intermediate points.

$20,000 Mortgage Foreclosure, Aim

Suit to foreclose a $20,750 mortgage against a ten-acre ranch at Garden Grove was on file today in the superior court here, Claude C. Crosby being plaintiff against Marcella L. Norton and others said to hold an interest in the property. Attorney W. F. Menton represents the plaintiff in the case.

WOMAN DEATH JURY UNABLE TO AGREE

Wearied by twenty-four hours of fruitless debate, the jury in the case of Benjamin J. Brooks, charged with manslaughter in connection with a motoring fatality, was still struggling with its problem of guilt or innocence this afternoon.

The jury retired to start its deliberations at 2 p. m. yesterday. Late last night no agreement had been reached, eleven of the jurors favoring conviction while one was holding out steadfastly for acquittal, according to reports from the jury room.

Finally the jury was taken to a local hotel for the night and resumed its deliberations early today. All forenoon it remained disagreed, after asking leave to inspect some of the exhibits in the trial, the broken fragments of the steering apparatus from a car driven by Brooks, which collided with another machine, killing Mrs. Stena Duncan, of Montebello.

At noon no verdict had been reached and this afternoon the jury was still engaged in grappling with the issue before it.

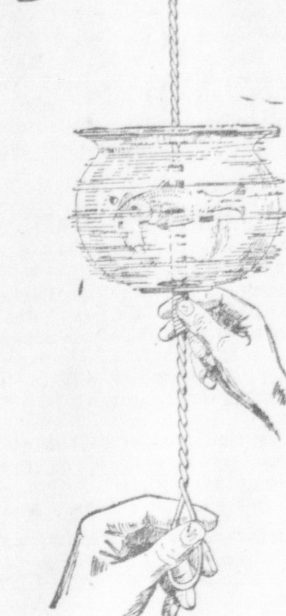

Indications today were that the Pacific Electric company would not have to abandon its regular service on the Los Angeles-Santa Ana line during the construction of a sewer line between the tracks on Fourth from Ross to French streets.

E. T. Battey, local agent, declared City Engineer W. G. Knox believed it will be possible to bridge or crib the excavation work between the tracks and thus permit the trains to continue to operate as usual.

Pacific Electric engineers were to come to Santa Ana late today to confer with the contractors and the city engineer in an effort to determine whether the suggested method would be feasible. Every effort will be made by the Pacific Electric, Battey said, to continue the operation of the trains on Fourth street as usual, as the abandonment of service would mean that all freight would have to be routed through Huntington Beach, entailing added expenditure and waste of time.

Guest Group Enjoys Delightful Luncheon

Mrs. Iva M. Webber presided over a pretty luncheon yesterday at her South Ross street home when a little group of teachers and friends enjoyed her hospitality.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. Webber, her daughter, Mrs. William S. Kellogg, Miss Frances Lapum, Mrs. Pearl Morse, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott and Miss Margaret Baker who will leave soon for her home in Monrovia where she will spend the summer ere departing for Tucson, Ariz., to take the place of librarian in the new Tucson High school.

At a table centered with sweet peas in deep red tones, an appetizing luncheon was served followed by an interval of pleasant chat ere the guests dispersed to their several duties.

Ebell Club

Santa Ana Ebell will hold its last meeting for the season next Monday, June 30, at the clubhouse. Reports of the biennial and of the state convention will be features of the business session, and the officers for the coming year will be introduced by Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, retiring president.

A very delightful little program will follow the business hour, when Mrs. Burr Shafer (Gladys Simpson Shafer) will read two of Oscar Wilde's fairy tales, "The Selfish Giant" and "The Happy Prince." The musical accompaniment for the readings, arranged by Lisa Lehmann, will be played by Earl Fraser.

Miss Molly Mosher, whose beautiful young voice is such a source of pleasure to every audience before which she appears, will sing a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Margaret Wickes.

A reception to the new members—and Ebell has welcomed over a hundred this year—will close the entertainment. Light refreshments will be served in the patio by the Fourth Economic section, for which the section asks that its busy palms be "crossed with silver," which will go into the fund for clubhouse furnishings.

Money for pledges not yet paid, and also for the auditorium chairs, which are now installed, will be received on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Earl Morrow, chairman of the ways and means committee.

There is a stir of activity at the clubhouse quite reminiscent of those busy before-the-opening days when the sound of the builders' hammers dominated the atmosphere rather than the sound of the president's gavel. For the attractive new gray chairs have arrived and are being installed.

Each member who responded to the "buy a chair" campaign may soon have the satisfaction of knowing that her chair is in place and ready to become one of the seats of rich old-blue velvet are hung in the softly tinted auditorium, the effect with the gray chairs will be gratifyingly lovely, it was declared today by an artistic member who said the effect would surely induce liberal minded members to live up to the slogan: "Let her buy chairs who never bought before. And her who purchased once, now buy the more." In an effort to relieve the treasury of as much expense as possible.

Music Recital

MISS LEONORA TOMPKINS

Tomorrow night at the First M. E. church auditorium, Miss Leonora Tompkins will present a number of her pupils in a piano recital demonstrating the principles of rhythm, tone and technique. Friends will be welcomed at the affair which will be divided into three groupings, the young people of the primary, intermediate and advanced classes.

Eighteen young musicians will be featured on the program which will be varied by violin and vocal numbers. Ralph Greer and Miss Emma Lena Richards, pupils of Elwood Bear, will offer the violin selections, the former playing Wieniawski's "Kujawiak" and the latter choosing to render "The Infant Paganini" by Moller-Hauer. Robert White will sing "Yesterday and Today" by Spross and "Duna" by McGill, the numbers used in the county music contest.

Piano Recital

An enjoyable evening was experienced by a large gathering at the McKinley school, Tuesday when Miss Nell Isaacson presented a group of piano pupils in a recital, assisted by Harriet Morris, a little expression pupil of Miss Etta Hale.

Charm was added by the gifts of several large baskets of flowers including gladioli, marigolds, dahlias, and various others. Another attraction was a Steinway grand piano placed for the occasion so that the place was transformed from a school room into a charming recital hall with a beautiful stage effect.

The pupils all showed evidence of progress since they last appeared and some manifested much artistry in their playing.

The three readings given by Harriet Morris were most interesting and were well received.

Those taking part in the program were Doris Rohrbacher, Eleanor Crill, Frederick Eley, Thelma Berry, Paul Hendrickson, Pauline Wells, Mary Chino, Armine Crawford, Barbara Horton, Margaret Hutchings, Helen Baker, Terrace Schafer, Mary Jane Owens, Conley La Force, Jean Ross and Harriet Morris.

Knights of Pythias

Unusual pressure of business marked the regular session of Santa Ana, Lodge No. 149, Knights of Pythias, with a large attendance present.

The lodge is evidencing a stride into popularity that marks an epoch of unprecedented activities with newcomers knocking incessantly at the "portal of Pythianism" for admission, thus swelling the already substantial membership.

In last night's dispatch of business, three new red-corded aspirants for honors were nominated for the following chairs, E. O. Bachman as prelate; William R. Ford as master-at-arms, and P. G. Reid, as vice-chancellor.

The order of the evening embraced the first reading of the new by-laws, with the rank of esquire being conferred. As guests of honor of the evening, the lodge entertained Fred Davis, chancellor commander and his co-workers, C. E. Robinson and James H. Clow and district deputy grand chancellor, Frank A. Godrich.

Whittier Woman Librarians' Head

Miss Jessie Harris of the Whittier union high school, was elected president of the Orange County Library club, at a meeting held at Whittier recently, it was announced here today.

Other officers include Mrs. F. M. West of the Fullerton library board, vice-president, and Miss Stockbrand of the Orange county free library, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Jeannette McFadden, Santa Ana public librarian, was appointed chairman of the program committee, other members of which are Mrs. Mable Faulkner of the Orange public library and Miss Parker of the Anaheim high school. Miss Minnie Maxwell of Fullerton was chosen as chairman of the courtesy committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Bailey of the Placentia library, Mrs. Margaret Scott of Orange high school was placed in charge of the "Question box."

Four Near Death In Auto Accident

VENICE, June 26.—Four persons were rescued from the Venice Lagoon today, narrowly escaping drowning after their automobile had crashed through a guard rail and plunged into the water.

Ray Hansen and Ed Smythe, of Los Angeles, were sent to the Martin hospital at Santa Monica. The other two passengers, whose names were not learned, were able to leave the scene without treatment.

all of Anaheim Pythian Castle No. 105. Another noted visitor and enthusiastic worker present was F. A. Wasson of Garfield Lodge No. 83, Milwaukee, Wis.

BIBLE CLASS MEN AT WHITTIER MEET

Seventy-five members of the Men's Community Bible, class of Santa Ana left today to attend the sixth quarterly convention of the Federated Men's Bible Classes of Southern California, which opened at Whittier at 3 and which closes at 8:30 p. m., following a banquet.

Automobiles to transport the Santa Ana men to Whittier left Sixth street at Broadway at 2 o'clock and were again to leave at 5:30 o'clock. More than 1000 persons from over all Southern California were expected to be in attendance.

The federation is composed of twenty-six classes, of which the Santa Ana class is one.

The Santa Anans were to make an endeavor to bring the next conference, which will be held in September, to this city.

Long Delay Seen In Move to Boost Telephone Rates

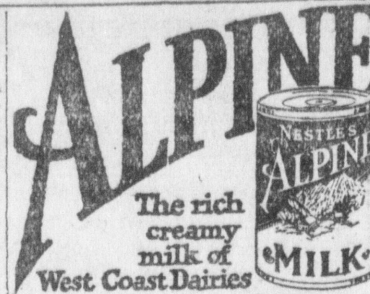

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Southern California Telephone company hearing before the state railroad commission on its petition for installation of "measured" telephone service will be continued today, with a probability of a postponement at the close of the day's session.

City Attorney Stephens is expected to ask for a three months' continuance of the matter to permit him to study the mass of evidence presented by the corporation in defense of its plea.

Woods Drops From Ambassador Post

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Cyrus Woods, American ambassador to Japan, today formally submitted his resignation to President Coolidge.

His resignation was accepted by the President with reluctance and with a warmly expressed appreciation of services.

Betrothals Weddings Reception*Birthday Bridge Is Keenly Enjoyed By Friendly Group

Marked by an intimate charm was a pleasant affair of earlier in the week when Mrs. W. H. Haddon gave a small bridge tea at her home, 114 Owens drive. Brightened by all the richly lovely flowers of summer, the rooms were arranged for five tables of bridge.

Refreshments were served en buffet, a manner employed by the hostess in the New York home from which she so recently came to Santa Ana. Interest centered in two delectable cakes, a typical birthday one which hinted of a little private celebration, and a deliciously rich fruit cake sent from New York by Mr. Haddon's sister, Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, in honor of Mrs. Haddon's birthday.

The table was further brightened by a charming basket of garden blossoms presented by the members of a little luncheon club to which the hostess belongs.

Attractive prizes were given to the holders of the five highest scores. Mrs. Guy Gilbert, Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, Mrs. Alice Harris, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Rosa Boyd. Miss Ann Hadden and Miss Virginia Berry aided in various little hostess duties.

Guests entertained included Mesdames H. B. Van Dien, Terry Stephenson, Charles Spicer, J. L. Allen, Noel Berry, Alvin Berry, C. S. Skirvin, Archie Herr, Lyman Tremaine, Lewis Lühr, Glenn Moore, Verne Bishop, Sam Hill, W. L. H. Benton, Guy Gilbert, Alice Harris, Anderson, Miss Jean Battersby and Miss Rosa Boyd.

S. A. Women's Club

At three long tables spread beneath the rhododendrons and other semi-tropical trees of beautiful Little Birch park, members of the Santa Ana Woman's club on Tuesday entertained their husbands and friends at a picnic dinner. The final event of a busy and interesting club year.

One of the guests, Mr. Asa Vandermast, voiced a reverent appreciation of the beauties of the day and surroundings and the lavishness of the feast after which Mrs. F. H. Finney surrendered the president's gavel to Mrs. Elizabeth Mills who presided at the little interval of speaking with her usual wit and charm. Among those who gave brief talks were Mr. Vandermast and Mr. Frank Ey, the latter speaking forcefully on woman's place and influence in the world.

The tables were flower-centered and laden with a wide variety of deliciously cooked dishes which were enjoyed by the members and guests as a prelude to the pleasant afternoon when chat and reminiscences filled the time.

News Notes of Interest To Women*Prominent Vocalist Presents Pupils In Recital

Highly gratifying was the reception accorded advanced pupils of Ellis Rhodes last night at the Ebells clubhouse when they were presented by their maestro in a recital which attracted such a crowd of interested friends that the seating space was not sufficient to accommodate them and literally dozens stood throughout the recital.

Well-paid they were too, for the evening was one of the pleasantest musical event of a season which is yielding one interesting recital after another.

Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana pupils were presented, beginning with Miss Zaida Reeves who sang "Una Voce Poco Fa" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville" with sweetness and clarity of tone. She was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong who was at the piano for the next two groups given by Fred Rowland and Miss Marcelline Hoppe.

Mr. Rowland's clear tenor was heard in "Oh! Fair, Oh! Sweet and Hily" by Cantor and in "For You Alone" and the youthful freshness of Miss Hoppe's voice was marked in the songs of her choice, "Love's Garden of Roses" by Wood and Penn's "Smilin' Thru."

Norman Price whose tenor has a beautiful, lyric quality, delighted with "In Summer Fields" by Brahms and "La Reye" from Massenet's "Manon." Later he gave two equally enjoyable duo numbers with Mrs. J. M. Hitchcock, whose very clear and lovely soprano blended perfectly with his voice in "A Night in the Woods" (d'Hardelot) and "Li ci d'are la Mano" from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart.

Mrs. Charles McCullough of Anaheim was accompanist for him in both solo and duo numbers.

It was matter for regret that illness prevented Mrs. H. B. Van Dien from filling her place on the program. The interval designated for her, was filled by La Rue Mayer whose appearance was the signal for a burst of applause, as the lovely "Maid Marian" of Robin Hood fame was a favorite with all.

The pure and liquid qualities of her voice were well adapted for singing the "Nocturne" by Curran which was her choice.

Monroe Sharpless gave Liza Lehmann's "Ah, Moon of My Delight" with its oriental charm, as his first number, and in sharp contrast, sang "Duna" by McGill. His voice was strong and sweet in both but the second song was given with the second sympathy and feeling.

Miss Armstrong was at the piano and appeared again to play for Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis whose "Elle" with its wailing notes, sent little thrills to the heart of every present. The song, a traditional Jewish melody, is well adapted to the pure and liquid qualities of Mrs. Sammis' voice.

Reginald Taylor proved to have a baritone of rare sweetness when he sang "Caro mio ben" by Giorani, but did his best work in the strongly dramatic "Two Great Followers" by Schumann. He was followed by Miss Holly Leah who sang "Danny Boy" in a richly sympathetic tone followed by Rachmaninoff's ecstatic "Floods of Spring."

The closing number gave to Santa Anans the opportunity to hear one who has been welcomed here before, Harry Lauder, Jr., nephew of the great Sir Harry Lauder himself. Seldom has a sweeter or more powerful tenor voice been heard here and "Lolita" by Buzzi-Peccia and "Love Is Mine" by Gartner, were delightfully rendered by the singer who received a storm of applause.

The recital enjoyed by the appreciative audience, was marked by the exquisite finish which pupils of Mr. Rhodes seem always to possess. Each one on the program sang with perfect diction and enunciation, adding to the pleasure of the recital as a whole.

Among the hundreds of friends enjoying the evening was a little group driving down from Los Angeles with Mrs. Rhodes. In the party was Miss Ruth St. Dennis who spent the recent week-end in this city as the guest of Mrs. Edwina Hamilton, and Mrs. Harry Rhodes who has been a frequent visitor in the home of her mother, Mrs. Hamilton and her sister, Mrs. Ellis Rhodes.

Household Economics

Wedding In Pocatello Of Keen Interest to Local Friends

Santa Ana friends of the F. L. Andrews family have been keenly interested in the marriage of the son, Frank L. Andrews Jr., to Miss Sally Maurine Ferguson which occurred Wednesday, June 18, in Pocatello, Idaho, and which Mrs. Andrews and Miss Mary Andrews attended.

The wedding was a colorful event indeed, with a background of musical event of a season which is yielding one interesting recital after another.

The ceremony was read by Bishop William A. Hyde just at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Ferguson decided to forego white for her bridal gown and chose instead, a charming creation of pastel pink georgette, Valenciennes trimmed. A tulle picture hat and a beaded georgette cape in the same delicate tint completed a costume with which the orchids, opella roses and lilies of the valley of her bridal bouquet harmonized perfectly.

Mrs. Ivan Gasser as honor matron, wore coral beaded georgette and carried lavender sweet peas and baby's breath tied with pink chiffon. Miss Elizabeth Rothas, maid of honor, chose embroidered blue chiffon over pink and carried pink sweet peas and forget-me-nots tied with blue.

The third member of the attendant group was Mrs. T. W. Edwards gowning in Nile green beaded georgette and carrying coral sweet peas and baby's breath tied with pink.

Mr. Andrews was assisted by Melancthon Edwards as best man while Samuel and Thomas Ferguson, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

A charming motif of the picture was afforded by the children who played an important part in the ceremony, four little flower girls including the bride's tiny sister Betty, forming an aisle for the wedding party and pink-trooped Pauline Nash strewing rose petals in the path.

A musical recital included in addition to the traditional Wedding March (Mendelssohn's), Cadman's "At Dawning" sung by Mrs. Hamilton of St. Louis, "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs Bond) and "Because" (d'Hardelot).

Wedding guests were received by Mrs. Ferguson, mother of the bride, wearing black, heavily embroidered in crystal beads and Mrs. F. L. Andrews sr. of this city, mother of the groom, gowning in blue georgette.

Following the charming reception, marked by refreshments served in the dining-room, a shower of pink and white roses and lilies of the valley—Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for a leisurely return to Santa Ana where they will be welcomed by a host of warm friends.

Mr. Andrews will resume his place with the Orange County Title company.

Flurry of Gayeties Arranged to Honor Miss Anderson

This final week preceding one of the most interesting weddings of June, that of Miss Isabel Anderson and George Lindley Andrews, scheduled for tomorrow night, is being marked by a very whirlwind of entertaining, which attests the popularity of tomorrow's bride.

Most of the final festivities are being marked by a charming air of intimacy as the members of the bridal party usually compose the outstanding guest group.

The Misses Edith and Wilma Plavan, have presided at two pretty affairs, the first a rose luncheon given with their mother and sister, Mrs. F. D. Plavan and Mrs. Lorne Mead, a visitor here from China.

A pink petalled basket filled with sweet peas and baby's breath centered the daintily arranged table where Miss Anderson was accorded place of honor and surrounded by Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. A. H. Theal, Mrs. Ralph Mead, Miss Mildred Mead, Miss Jessie Miller and the hostess group. In the afternoon, the towels were hemmed for use in the future menage of the bride.

SMART DINNER
Tuesday night, the Misses Plavan presented a formal dinner at which Miss Anderson again occupied the place of honor and when Mrs. Plavan and Mrs. Lorne Mead assisted in greeting the guests.

A huge rose of pink and yellow tints formed a low basket filled with shell-pink sweet peas as an artistic centerpiece under a shower of orchid, rose and yellow ribbons from the chandeliers. Covers were laid for Miss Wilma Plavan and Miss Edith Plavan, hostesses, Miss Anderson, honor guest, Mrs. F. D. Plavan, Mrs. Lorne Mead, and the Misses Annie Anderson, Beatrice Anderson, Josephine Crookshank, Constance Crookshank, Frances Battey, Helen Randall and Beatrice Cartwright.

The evening was devoted to music, conversation and needlework.

BRIDE'S LUNCHEON
Yesterday Miss Anderson gave her luncheon for the members of the bridal party and in the afternoon entertained informally at a trolley tea—then a little group of close friends dropped in to see the many treasures of a hope chest filled to overflowing, and the exquisitely appointed trolley.

Christmas sweet peas flamed in the center of the table in the spacious dining-room of the Anderson home, while maidenhair fern formed a feathery background, cool and delightful.

Miss Ruth Andrew, (sister of the groom-elect), Miss Annie Anderson, Miss Beatrice Anderson and Miss Edith Plavan of the bridesmaid group, Miss Doris Fredericks, maid of honor, Mrs. John N. Anderson and Mrs. A. V. Andrews, mothers of the bride, Mrs. J. Peter Condit and Miss Gertrude Andrews, sisters of Mr. Andrews, Mrs. A. H. Theal and Miss Jessie Miller, aunts of the bride, comprised the group enjoying a daintily prepared luncheon which was meticulously served by the Misses Wilma Plavan, Thelma Patton and Jane Griffith.

The latter trio, all close friends of Miss Anderson, will aid in the future menage of the bride.

China Is Showered By Entre Nous Members Of Recent Bride

Post-nuptial affairs have a quiet little charm all their own and none have been more happily planned and carried out than a Junior Entre Nous party which last night honored a recent bride, Mrs. Kenneth Baird, formerly Miss Constance Vegely.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird are nicely settled for the summer in an attractive apartment at Redondo Beach where their friends found them after motoring to the beach city. The Entre Nous girls entered the pretty home of the newly-weds, bearing gifts of china until Mrs. Baird was almost overwhelmed with the complete dinner set in a beautiful pattern.

No details of the evening had been neglected by the enterprising guests who took everything for a delicious little two-course supper which was served at the close of the evening ere they started on the return drive home.

various hostess duties at the wedding.

In the afternoon after the many interested friends had called to show their interest in Miss Anderson and her lovely possessions, cool fruit punch and dainty wafers offered refreshments at the tea hour.

The wedding tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock will be at the home of Miss Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Anderson, 501 Wellington avenue.

Don't miss the Fashion Show at Colonial Club, tomorrow evening. Beautiful models. Gowns from Applebaum's Specialty Shoppe. Enjoy it while dining. Phone 2693 for table reservation.

NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN MOTHERS

Worn Out Caring for Children and Housework—See how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"I was in a very nervous and run-down condition while nursing my baby, and hearing some talk of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. From the second bottle I noticed a big improvement, and I am still taking it. I am not a bit nervous now, and feel like a different person. It is a great medicine for any one in a nervous, run-down condition and I would be glad to give any one advice about taking it. I think there is no better medicine and give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. ANNA SMITH, 541 W. Norwood St., Indianapolis, Indiana.

The important thing about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is that it does help women suffering from the ailments common to their sex. If you are nervous and run-down and have pains in your lower parts and in your back, remember that the Vegetable Compound has relieved other women having the same symptoms. ## CONVENTION IN BIG OVATION FOR SMITH by Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Indiana, Alabama, part of Illinois and most of Texas, Oklahoma, New Hampshire, Maine, Tennessee, South Carolina, West Virginia, California, Oregon, Canal Zone, Maryland, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi and North Dakota.

The deafening demonstration for Smith was not confined to the convention hall, but soon began to spread throughout the lower end of town, particularly all about the garden.

George Brennan, of Illinois, took part in the procession, shouting with the rest of them.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, who is himself mentioned as a possible "dark horse" joined the procession and kept in line for five laps around the garden.

Mrs. Smith There When the demonstration had lasted for one hour there wasn't the slightest evidence of abatement. A huge basket of flowers was taken from the speaker's platform down through the center aisle to a box directly across the hall where it was noted Mrs. Smith sat in reservations not far from those of Mrs. McAdoo.

Submission of the floral tribute was followed by a special demonstration of the marchers in front of Mrs. Smith's seat. The spotlight turned on Mrs. Smith and cast its rays also over Mrs. McAdoo, who sat less than ten feet away.

Mrs. McAdoo talked with friends who sat with her. Mrs. McAdoo's group apparently found real enjoyment in the demonstration, as they laughed merrily at the antics of the marchers and quips passed up to them and Mrs.

Smith as delegates and others filed by.

Theodore R. Burton, temporary chairman and keynoter of the Republican convention, who was sitting on the platform with friends, declared the demonstration "is one of the most enthusiastic I ever witnessed."

Brings Silence
After the demonstration had continued for one hour and fifteen minutes Roosevelt gave the first signal to the marchers to quiet down. There was an immediate reduction of noise, then Chairman Walsh began pounding on the table for order. Roosevelt stood up at his side. The sirens in the galleries ceased their shrieking. Bands stopped.

Miss Anna Case, Metropolitan star, stepped to the front of the speaker's rostrum. A hush fell over the great throng which a moment before was a deafening bedlam.

"Oh, say can you see—" went up in silvery tones from the throat of the noted soprano as the band softly played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Then to the chorus, "sing everybody," called Miss Case and once more the garden welled up with the anthem.

The demonstration appeared to be over.

Start It Again.

Then, from the boys' band over on the far side of the garden came suddenly from the silence "East Side, West Side"—the din was on again. Sirens resumed their shrieking. The paraders started on their march, shrieking as if they had just begun.

A few minutes of this and Roosevelt again went to the front of the platform and ordered the bands to leave by the nearest exit. The Smith floor generals stood on chairs and signaled for quiet. Once more the sirens and other shrieking instruments were silenced.

Walsh obtained order at 2 p. m. and the call of the roll of states was resumed. Senator Thomas F. Blair placed in nomination former United States Senator Sausbury of Delaware.

Florida, called next, yielded to Missouri, and Charles M. Hay of St. Louis seconded the nomination of William G. McAdoo. The call of the roll of states proceeded to Illinois.

Smith then Louis Stevenson was recognized. Stevenson declared Illinois had McAdoo boosters, supporters of Smith and friends of John W. Davis. It was the first mention of the name of Davis, who has been mentioned as a very strong dark horse possibility. It drew scattered applause.

Nominates Houston.

Then, in nominating former Secretary of Agriculture and Treasury David Houston, he declared that the facts that he was permitted to make the nomination as a matter of personal courtesy "proves that Illinois is not boss ridden."

Still another of the Illinois delegation—James A. Meeks of Danville—was recognized. He seconded McAdoo's nomination on behalf of the McAdoo element in the Brennan organization.

Indiana was called next on the roll and Fremont Van Nuys of Indianapolis mounted the platform and placed in nomination Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.

Reaching the climax of his brief presentation, Van Nuys turned and pointed to a large oil painting of Indiana's favorite son, which was lifted to the speaker's rostrum.

In the band loft, "On the Banks of the Wabash" struck up. Miss Anna Case, who has become the outstanding hit of the convention, came forward again and led in the singing. The Indiana delegation stood on chairs. Tom Taggart singing with energy.

Song Brings Cheers

There was a big cheer and applause at the conclusion of the song. The Indiana delegates sang their own song alone as the big convention sat quietly. "Our home is Down In Indiana," was put forth with everything the Indiana had.

Calling of the roll of states proceeded. Iowa sent up N. F. Healy of Fort Dodge, blind state senator who seconded the nomination of Smith.

Healy criticized those who would make the race on religious creed an issue in determining the nominee.

"I speak only on behalf of myself," he declared.

Michael L. Igen also of the Illinois delegation, followed Stevenson and announced he was to make a brief seconding speech. He did it—for Gov. Al Smith—and got a great hand for his efforts.

Applause greeted Ayres at the conclusion of his speech nominating Gov. Davis and the entire Kansas delegation, each delegate resplendent in red Kansas sunflowers, rose and cheered and saved their sunflowers.

Kentucky yielded to Oregon and Mrs. Alexander Thompson of Portland, Ore., took the platform. Her voice carried to the far corners of the garden and her first sentence for that reason, received a big cheer.

Pleading a return to the ideals of Woodrow Wilson she seconded the nomination of W. G. McAdoo.

Howard Bruce placed Governor Ritchie in nomination. When he concluded, a group of Ritchie enthusiasts cheered, waved banners and gave a real demonstration to the Maryland governor.

While the Ritchie demonstration was on leaders were working to see what should be done about the order of business of nominations are concluded. McAdoo leaders wished to obtain a night session in the hope of obtaining a few ballots which would show McAdoo in the lead and take the edge off the big Smith demonstration.

George E. Brennan who was asked if he would agree to this said: "There'll be no night session if we can help it."

A two-thirds majority will be required to change the rules and permit balloting tonight. Such a vote might prove a test vote on McAdoo's actual strength.

The leaders were unable to reach any agreement so Congressman Fitzgerald of New York will move for adjournment until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow after nominating speeches are concluded. The New York, Illinois and other anti-McAdoo delegations are going to vote for the overnight adjournment while McAdoo supporters vote for a night session.

perations report.

The League plank reaffirms Woodrow Wilson's belief in the League as the most effective instrument to prevent war, and advocates a referendum, independent of any political election upon the question of America's entrance into the League and world court. The plank would safeguard this country's interests through reservations in the League covenant, upholding the Monroe Doctrine and leaving the United States from entangling itself in foreign wars.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts sponsored a plank which was adopted providing for government regulation of the anthracite coal industry and other necessities of life when controlled by monopolies. Another Walsh plank, which has long been urged by Senator Norris, Nebraska, would eliminate "lame ducks" from congress. Under the Constitutional amendment proposed, congress would assemble

Up to People

Constitutional amendment would be submitted directly to the people instead of the legislatures, under another plank adopted. That has also been urged by Republican Progressives. The agricultural plank, modeled along the general lines suggested by Bernard Baruch, combines a number of reforms designed to increase the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar. It promises to reopen foreign markets to the farmers, to adjust the tariff, to cut the cost of living and agricultural promotion, to lower freight rates, to create a co-operative marketing system and restore prosperity.

The platform as tentatively drafted covers nearly forty subjects. The main planks can be summarized as follows:

A further reduction in taxes is pledged to be brought about by strict economy and efficiency and honesty in government.

Railroads: Revision of the Esch-Cummings Transportation Act, particularly the rate making section and the abolition of the railroad labor board is promised.

Corrupt Practices: A smashing indictment of the Republican administration for graft, corruption and favoritism is coupled with a pledge of honest government and recommendations for legislation to insure clean elections.

Disarmament: A recommendation for a sweeping reduction in armaments is qualified by a declaration for an adequate army and navy until international agreements have been affected.

And there was Judge Mulqueen, one of the few remaining politicians who wear mutton chop whiskers and the square derby which were part of the regalia in the olden days.

Four years ago "Al" was placed in nomination at San Francisco as a favorite son. But that was three thousand miles away. Today it was done at home and all the home town boys were there ready to accord him the honors they believed due him. Bostonian Pedals Bicycle Across Continent For Visit to Santa Ana

Oklahoma City Man Shows How He Likes City By Purchasing Home

Three hundred and four persons were attracted to Santa Ana's automobile tourist park during the past seven days, according to the register at the campgrounds.

And one of the tourists traveled all the way from Boston on a bicycle to visit the "Garden of Eden" here. The Bostonian cyclist registered at the auto camp as Albert Cooper. He is 23 years old.

"I've heard so many wonderful things about this county that I just had to tie a few of my belongings onto my bike and peddle across the continent to see for myself if half the stories told me were true," Cooper confided to his new acquaintances at the local camp. "I'm mighty well pleased with this part of the world and I feel that the trip to Santa Ana was well worth the hardships I endured during the strenuous journey by bicycle."

Cooper's approval of Santa Ana was echoed by George Martin of Yakima, Wash., who motored here with his family several days ago. "I'm so tickled with this beautiful, progressive little city that I'd like to settle here," Martin asserted, adding that his family was persuading him to take up a residence here.

W. R. Preston and C. L. Preston of Morrill, Neb., who motored into the tourist park after dark, for the first time in their lives saw oranges growing on trees. They said they gazed and gazed in wonder at

$30,000 Power Plant Glass Company Plan

The Standard American Glass company is planning the immediate construction of a $30,000 power plant at the new factory site in the central manufacturing district southeast of Santa Ana, it was announced here today by officials of the company.

The 125-horsepower plant will be capable of supplying electric power to the entire glass factory when it is completed. Building material and equipment for the power house were being ordered today, it was stated.

Gas will be used for operating the electric plant which, officials say, will enable a sufficient saving to be made in power costs to pay for the power plant in two years.

Fireworks Code Being Enforced 'Like in Past'

Reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Santa Ana's anti-fireworks ordinance is being enforced during this pre-independence day period, as in the past.

City Marshal L. C. Rogers made this clear here today when he called attention to the fact that the city law absolutely prohibits the use of fireworks of any description inside the city limits, at any time.

"Naturally, this places firecrackers under the ban at all times, including the Fourth of July," Rogers pointed out.

County Park Ban On Firecrackers Due to Dry Grass

"No firecrackers; no fireworks of any kind."

This was the positive order of county park authorities, issued today in relation to the Fourth of July period.

"The grass is exceedingly dry," said R. C. Northcross, who is in charge of improvements at the park, "and the slightest bit of fire is likely to do a lot of damage."

SET RECORD AS WATER POWER RUSH BEGUN

Abundance of Electricity Assured S. A. Factories Says Edison Manager

By January 1, 1925, there will be an abundance of electric power for all contemplated industries in Santa Ana, and never again will it be possible for a power shortage to occur, according to W. L. Delmilling, district manager of the Southern California Edison company.

A world's record for "tunneling" through solid granite has just been broken, according to Delmilling, as workmen are penetrating the granite formation at an average of 150 feet a week in their efforts to supply the district with five times the water storage now available by "tapping" several hundred thousand acres at Forest lake.

Upon being pressed as to what could be done for contemplated industries, Delmilling stated:

"In regard to inquiries from industrial organizations investigating locations in and around Santa Ana, we have no hesitancy in stating that there will be an ample supply of power available after January 1, for such concerns when they are ready to operate."

"We figure that new industries which may be contemplated requiring power service usually take a few months to build their plants, install their equipment, and get ready for operation. At the beginning of the next year we will have plenty of power available from the additional steam plant equipment now in course of installation, and additional water power which will be made available by our obtaining larger storage areas for the rains of next fall and winter."

Build Other Plants In addition to the nine water power plants in the San Bernardino mountains that utilize the flow of several mountain streams and other plants that supply Santa

An industrial site under private ownership.

"In my opinion, investors in the company do not take any chance on their money. Every cent will be returned, plus interest. It is impossible that some profit will be made by resale prices being advanced where an increase is justified by improvements made in the district. This, however, is not the intention of the organization."

Success Is Predicted. "Business men of this city should be vitally interested in the company, for on the increase in manufacturing here depends the future growth, prosperity and stability of Santa Ana. I believe that when we have time to present the proposition in all its aspects and reach the point of organization, men of the community will quickly subscribe for shares and provide the company with a fund that will make it possible to buy a large acreage."

Zerman emphasized the fact that should more than 20 per cent of a subscription may be called, if needed, oftener than every six months.

"Organization of the company," he stated, "has a sentimental aspect that will be of great influence in inducing location here of factories. It would be an evidence that the city would be back of a concern seeking a site here. Community support is something that every concern appreciates and values highly."

INDUSTRY SITE SUBSCRIPTION NOW $15,000

Predict Success In Move To Purchase Properties For Manufactories

Subscriptions to the Santa Ana Industrial Land company today totaled $15,000, A. N. Zerman, chairman of the committee directing organization of the new company, announced.

The subscribers follow: Santa Ana Development company, $1500; A. B. Rousseau, O. H. Barr, $1000 each; George Dunton, Register Publishing company, J. S. Smart, R. E. Brown, Southern Counties Gas company, Rankin Dry Goods company, Walter Vandermast, R. S. Chandler, Sam Herwitz, Roehm-Silvestor company, O. M. Robbins, Charles F. Smith, Robertson Electric company, Theo. A. Winbiger, John McFadden company, D. N. Kelly, Knox and Stout, J. E. Livezey, Jr., C. S. Kelley, Orange County Title company, Geo. A. Fitzpatrick, Charles D. Spicer and Standard American Glass company, $500 each.

The company is capitalized for $250,000, shares being of $100 par value and grouped into units of five each, making $500 the smallest subscription that may be made, Zerman said.

Resell For Industrials. The purpose of the company, the chairman said, is to buy land at present prices and resell it for industries at cost, plus carrying charges.

"Large industries gradually are locating in Southern California and Santa Ana will have an excellent opportunity to acquire some of them if the city is in position to offer desirable sites at a low cost," Zerman said. "We have the opportunity now. Organization of the company offers an avenue for providing sites at costs whereas later they may be prohibitive to many concerns. The company would offer protection against increased values of an industrial site under private ownership."

"In my opinion, investors in the company do not take any chance on their money. Every cent will be returned, plus interest. It is impossible that some profit will be made by resale prices being advanced where an increase is justified by improvements made in the district. This, however, is not the intention of the organization."

BEACH OIL FIELD HOLDS UP

While other Southern California oil fields have not done so well, Huntington Beach field is still producing oil valued at over $50,000 a week with no signs of an extensive decline today. Wells which came in the heyday of the beach field are still producing at a reasonable rate the "black gold" which has probably made more millionaires in Southern California than any other one industry. Here is a picture of the Huntington Beach field.

BIG CITY PARK ACTION LOOMS AT MEETING

Acting on the suggestion of the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, it was expected that the Santa Ana Lions club, at its meeting at St. Ann's Inn today, would inaugurate a movement for identifying the lunch-club and other organizations in an active movement to obtain for Santa Ana a large public park.

"One of Santa Ana's greatest needs is adequate park facilities," the Rev. Mr. Schrock said today. "It is to be regretted that Santa Ana has grown to its present size without adequate park space."

"It is time the city acted—acted before available land has passed to city lots. Tracts of sufficient acreage in good location are growing less year by year. We should at once organize a joint committee from the luncheon clubs to launch a movement for a bond issue. With a site purchased the clubs and various organizations could make their contributions toward purchase of equipment."

"We need here a place where may gather residents, who do not have transportation that makes the ocean and the mountains available as recreation grounds. A recreation center here is one of the needs and one of the demands of the hour."

"The children of Santa Ana need, and are entitled, to adequate playgrounds. They now have to play either in the streets or at inadequate school grounds. From a health standpoint, the value of a park is obvious."

"A park with a plunge such as is now maintained in the new park at Anaheim, would be an invaluable asset to the community."

The Rev. Mr. Schrock said there has been considerable discussion here recently as to the necessity of acquiring a large park.

"We have been talking, let's get into action," he said.

DECISION ON BOND ISSUE VOTE MAY BE CRUX

Construction, Development 'Lesson' Taken by 150 Men of County

Confident that the excursion would have an important part in determining Orange county's program for the development of the tri-counties harbor at Newport, 150 citizens of this section, shortly after 1 p. m. today, left on a special train for Wilmington. From this point a cruise of Los Angeles harbor was planned so that the visitors could have a lesson in harbor construction and development.

What recommendations the committee of fifty Orange county citizens would make to the county board of supervisors regarding the work to be undertaken by the county in developing the local project, it was acknowledged, may be partially decided after members of the committee and a hundred other persons representing the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the Chambers of Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange and Santa Ana, and the realty boards of the county have completed the excursion.

Encouragement. A statement made by Major E. D. Arbery at a meeting of harbor boosters in Santa Ana Monday night also is said to have an important bearing on possible recommendations, of the committee of fifty, which now are being reconsidered.

Heretofore it was considered necessary to build an east jetty at the local harbor entrance to keep the sand and silt from drifting into the channel, it was explained. But the government engineers, according to Major Arbery, believe that an effective way to keep the harbor entrance clear is merely to make the present west jetty sand-tight after dredging the inner channel. This, he said, would necessitate constructing a small "bank" protection continuing north of the present jetty, it was said.

Armed with this information, the 150 harbor boosters left Balboa. They were scheduled to arrive at the foot of Canal street, Wilmington, at 2:30 p. m., where the party was to be met by members of the Los Angeles board of harbor commissioners to be conducted on the cruise.

To Answer Questions. The harbor experts previously had consented to answer all questions pertaining to the construction, development and maintenance of the great port of the Southland, and the visitors promised to avail themselves of this opportunity to profit by the wisdom and experience of the veteran harbor builders.

The excursionists were to be shown the various kinds of docking facilities, the different kinds of warehouses, the many methods used for loading and unloading different commodities and the various types of wharf and breakwater construction. Every phase of the development of the man-made harbor at San Pedro was to be explained during the trip.

The cruise was to end at the Fifth-street landing in San Pedro, where the Orange county harbor representatives were to board a special train at 4:30 p. m., arriving in Balboa at 6 o'clock.

The Family Endowment system, consisting of paying family allowances with wages, is spreading rapidly over continental France. In France, for instance, family allowances are paid by all railroad and mining companies, as well as by more than 8,000 firms, banded together in about 138 associations. Nearly 3,000,000 workers are affected by the system, under which last year more than 300,000,000 francs were paid out. The system prevails to a considerable extent in Germany, Holland and Belgium, and in Austria it is compulsory.

VETERANS HERE BEGIN BONUS ACTIVITIES

Officials of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, were kept busy last night and today, assisting World War veterans in filling out their application forms for government adjusted compensation.

Clyde C. Whitney, adjutant, said twenty-five application forms were completed last night and sent to the proper department for action. In addition more than twenty-five others were given information they desired and had their fingerprints taken. The latter veterans will complete their applications at home.

Last night was the first of several that will be devoted by Legion officials of Santa Ana to assisting ex-service men. Those veterans who desire application forms or assistance, it was explained, may get either at the Legion home on North Birch street, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 7 to 8:30 o'clock.

Roland Dye, chairman of the compensation committee, will be on hand on these nights. A notary public and Herman Zabel, superintendent of the Orange county bureau of identification, also will be present. Zabel will take the fingerprints for all who apply either at the Legion home or at the sheriff's office.

TO SHIP GLASS FIRM LUMBER VIA HARBOR

Sufficient lumber to require a train of twenty-five cars to transport it had arrived today at San Pedro for delivery to the Standard American Glass company in Santa Ana, declared E. J. Williams, manager of the new concern which has begun construction here of the largest window-glass factory west of the Mississippi.

Robert E. Brown, subdivider of Lloyd Park and who was principally responsible for bringing the glass factory to Santa Ana, made arrangements with W. L. Dixon, president of the glass company, to have the huge shipment of lumber floated on barges to the tricolored harbor at Newport, where it will be loaded onto motor trucks and delivered to the factory here.

O. H. Barr, president of the Barr Lumber company, who supplied the order of lumber, assisted in re-billing the shipment through the local harbor, thereby aiding, he stated, in the movement to establish a commercial port in Orange county.

BEWARE ERRORS IN CONTRACTS IS WARNING

Santa Anans who are buying and selling property are urged to guard against an error of judgment which cost one home owner $4500 because he failed to understand his contract with a real estate dealer.

This particular incident has caused a warning to be issued by Carlos G. White, author of the law notes published in California Real Estate magazine, who states:

"No owner can be held for a sale made on any terms other than that specified in the broker's contract unless the owner specifically assents to said terms, or unless he refuses absolutely to sell at all in a case in which the broker could have modified the terms had objection been made."

"If the owner has any objection to make to the terms offered, and without objecting, then refuses absolutely to sell, the broker may recover his commission if his buyer was ready, able and willing to perform the terms of the contract as to payment, or the abstract or deed are unsatisfactory to the intending vendor, the latter should object to them on that ground and not refuse absolutely to sell; and * * * where he fails to make such objection under such circumstances, he will be held liable to the broker negotiating the sale for his commissions if he refuses to accept the purchaser's * * *"

SHOW PROGRESS IN TRACT AT DANA POINT

Dana Point, made famous by the adventurer, Richard Henry Dana Jr., in his "Two Years Before the Mast," again is being brought into the limelight, not as an historical attraction but as a subdivision in which it is planned to have beautiful homes and wonderful gardens.

Streets have been laid out and a retaining wall, 1200 feet long and constructed of beach stones and concrete has been completed. Two large tractors are at work daily grading streets and leveling lots.

A large warehouse is being erected for the purpose of storing building materials, machinery, tools and other supplies. Plans are going forward for the erection of beautiful homes, a clubhouse and golf links.

This transformation is being made under the direction of the San Juan Point corporation, consisting of Mrs. Anna G. Walters, Dr. J. L. Beebe, H. P. Krick and Joe W. Skidmore. The subdivision has a large ocean frontage and lies on Still Water Bay.

The corporation is laying a pipeline from Serra to Dana Point where a large reservoir for water storage for a gravity flow system will be installed.

Grotto stairway, said to be a masterpiece of the master mason's imaginative art, has been completed.

Grotto stairway ends at the Seaside Inn, which is equipped with a large table capable of seating fifty persons and at one end of which there is built a huge barbecue oven.

Ana with electric power, a three-unit steam plant with a total of 120,000 horsepower is being constructed at Long Beach for the use of cities in this district. The first unit of 20,000 horsepower is expected to be ready for operation July 1; the second unit of 50,000 horsepower will operate in December, and the third unit of 50,000 horsepower will be completed shortly afterward.

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at C. S. Kelley Drug Store (mail orders accepted) and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

How to Save!

The man or woman who wants to save and to make those savings earn more money and thus bring in a continuous income, can:

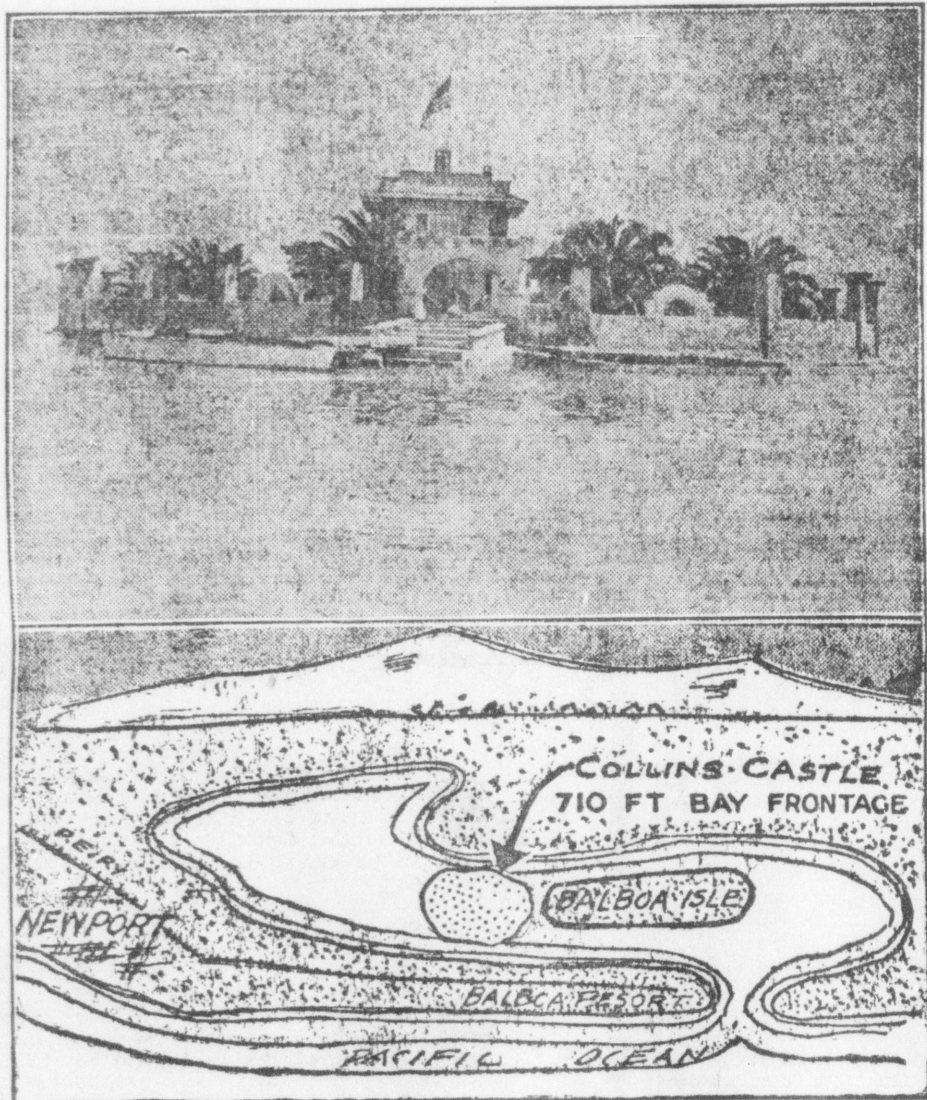

- save by getting higher wages.
- save by cutting expenses.
- or save by both methods.

Here is the practical thing to do: First determine that you will save and then cut and watch expenses so that you can save. You will find your wages increasing automatically because the man or woman who is smart enough to save is smart enough to earn more, AND DOES.

Next month new accounts may be opened. Determine that you will be among the fortunate ones who have found a safe and satisfactory place for their money. You will be surprised at the rapidity with which your account increases even though you are able to save only a little each month.

Collins' Castle

A castle on a picturesque island. Concrete construction throughout (sea wall and buildings) adjacent to Balboa Island. 12 rooms modern; balcony around entire second story. Boat house with 4-room apartment; boat landing. Dozens of immense palms, vineyard, shrubs, etc.

Land value (710 ft. bay frontage) of this unique island, its sea walls, pergolas and magnificent Castle represents a real value of $100,000.00. It would cost to reproduce today double that amount. Ideal for year around exclusive residence, club, sanitarium, etc. Has many possibilities; admits of extensive further development. Deep water low tide at entrance.

Island and Castle offered at $65,000.00 cash, or will accept as part smaller property. 1st or 2nd Trust Deeds—balance terms. The price quoted on this property is ridiculously low. Business requiring my immediate attention in other sections, my reason for sacrificing.

PACKING PLANTS OF COUNTY RESUME OPERATIONS AFTER ELECTRICITY "ROW" ENDED

Following adjustment here yesterday of the power situation as between the county conservative committee, packing house managers and irrigators, packing houses in the Santa Ana district today were in full operation, according to a statement made by L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange.

The manager added that the plants would be maintained in full operation the remainder of this month, if pumping plant owners cooperated as fully as they had promised.

"Committees from each packing house yesterday afternoon visited pump owners in their respective districts and were assured of cooperation in the conservation of power," the manager said. "The situation was presented to the power users and they were told it was a case of shutting down the pumps or halting operations at the packing houses. Pump-owners quickly grasped the situation and agreed to remain off the power lines for the rest of the month."

"The harvesting and shipment of citrus fruit at this time is of vital importance to the growers and the entire community."

"I believe that there will be no violation by the pump owners of the agreements made."

"We do not know yet what the situation will be in July," continued Palmer. "I understand there will be a re-allotment of power to this district for that month. When we know what it will be we can better govern ourselves."

"We can, at least, regulate our work so the will be no serious interruptions as occurred when the power was shut off Tuesday and yesterday. We were given no notice that the power service was to be discontinued at periods throughout the first day and consequently we suffered financial loss and were greatly inconvenienced."

Virtually every industry except those classed as essential in the Santa Ana power district today had closed its doors until after July 1, in order to hold Orange county within, or as near to, its quota for the month. Irrigation throughout the county had ceased completely, it was stated.

With a quota of 1,700,000 kilowatt hours for the last fifteen days of the month, the county had used 1,534,683 last night at midnight, leaving a bare 165,317 kilowatt hours for the remainder of the month. A total of 101,644 kilowatt hours were used in the district yesterday, which shows a saving of approximately 75,000 kilowatt hours when compared with the daily average use in the county during the past ten days. A further cut was expected by Edison company officials today, in view of additional disconnections made.

With the exception of industries that are connected on the same switches with plants classed as essential, all factories of the larger type in the district were shut down today, according to Fred Reyer of the Edison company. He said that all factories with which the company had been able to communicate regarding the situation were closed.

A special trip throughout the factory district of Orange and Anaheim was made by the Santa Ana conservation committee yesterday afternoon, at which time factory managers were asked to close their doors, and according to W. L. Deimling, district manager for the Edison company here, not a single request was refused. Cooperation on the part of factory managers throughout the district has been ideal, according to Deimling.

S. E. Sauby, chairman of the Orange county conservation committee, tomorrow will go to Los Angeles and attend a meeting of the agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles to discuss the power shortage conditions in the Southland. Scores of representatives from all of the Southern states have been asked to attend.

At a meeting held last night in the Woman's clubhouse at Costa Mesa, attended by approximately 200 persons, the conservation committee of the Huntington Beach power district told of conditions in Orange county and discussed ways and means of conserving power in the Costa Mesa district. A resolution to aid the committee in every possible way for conservation was passed unanimously by the gathering.

BELIEVES SUPERVISORS NOT PRIVILEGED TO ACT

Although not yet having opportunity to study the question, he said, District Attorney A. P. Nelson today expressed the tentative opinion that private use of electric power could not be lawfully restricted by ordinance of the county supervisors.

"The matter had not been officially laid before me," the district attorney said, "and so I do not know what was definitely in view with respect to limiting use of power, as requested by a committee that visited the supervisors Tuesday."

"Therefore," he said, "I could not submit an opinion at the present time. It would seem to be, however, that the board would not have authority to enact such an ordinance. Such a move would probably be entirely up to the state railroad commission."

L. A. POWER USERS OFFER TO CUT ON NEEDS
Voluntary curtailment of the use of electricity during the shortage of available current has been made by numerous individuals and business houses, in Los Angeles county, according to an announcement authorized here by Power Supervisor Gullion of the state railroad commission.

Gullion has been notified by nine ice and ice cream distributors, he said, that they have agreed among themselves to appoint a power administrator who would assume the responsibility of making a cut in all plants.

He rectified other instances as follows: One hundred forty Los Angeles restaurant owners have agreed to do away with electrical displays and will curtail the use of electric signs as far as reasonably possible in the operation of business.

Poster & Kleiser stated that illumination of billboard advertising over the entire Southland has been cut drastically.

The Motion Picture Theater Owners' association and a representative of the West Coast chain of theaters are working on a plan for curtailment in the use of electricity even more than heretofore.

Thomas H. Ince has notified his employees to reduce the use of electricity both in the studio and homes. He calls on his employees to treat it as a "sporting proposition."

Thirty-five hundred telephones in Santa Monica were put out of business for a two-hour period yesterday. It is understood officials of the company will protest the cutting out of the use of telephones.

Owners of newspaper plants in the bay district instructed their employees to report to work at 5 a. m. in order that newspapers may be on the street at the usual time, despite the two-hour period of inaction.

WILL FIX QUOTAS, IN POWER SHORTAGE

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Southern California's efforts to conserve electrical current were to be speeded today through the issuance of definite quotas for each territory and industry, by A. V. Gillou, acting power supervisor for the railroad commission.

The Pacific Electric and Los Angeles railway lines, which have temporarily stopped the building of new cars, may announce today their programs for rescheduled service. Arrangements have been made, it is understood, for the Pacific Electric to route much of its freight over the steam lines of the Southern Pacific to save current.

The railroad commission is receiving full co-operation from all industries and business houses in the rationed area, it is said. The retail merchants' association has formed the power supervisor that its members would meet this week to reach a definite agreement on the curtailment of window and display lights.

DENIES LASKY WILL DESERT HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press Leased Wire)
HOLLYWOOD, June 26.—Eastern reports that Famous Players-Lasky corporation plans to close up its Hollywood studio and remove all producing units to the Long Island studio were today emphatically denied by Charles E. Eytan, general manager of the local plant.

"Famous Players-Lasky will continue in the future, as has been the custom in the past, to make most of its pictures in Hollywood," Eytan said. "There is no change contemplated in the present arrangement."

Eytan stated that local companies, including Cecil De Mille's unit, may make occasional pictures in the East, but Hollywood will continue to be the big production center. While directors and stars now in Hollywood are working on Long Island, companies now in the East will be brought here, to keep the local studio turning out most of the corporation's films, he said.

He's Elected Head Of Knitting Plant To Be Built Here

ROBERT SPENCER

Robert Spencer, who recently came to Santa Ana to accept a position as superintendent of the Orange Blossom Knitting Mills, has been elected president of the company, it was announced today by the board of directors of the new concern.

The company officials predicted their plant will be in operation before the end of summer, and will have a weekly capacity, operating one eight-hour shift six days a week, of 100 dozen pairs full fashioned silk hose, 200 dozen pairs seamless silk hose, 45 dozen sweaters and a quantity of scarfs and other products.

The mills will be erected and equipped on a ten-acre site owned by the company on Newport boulevard between Santa Ana and the harbor.

In announcing Spencer's election to the presidency of the Orange Blossom Knitting Mills, directors of the firm stated that they considered themselves fortunate in obtaining Spencer for the position as he had gained valuable experience while working from boyhood in the upbuilding of Smyth and company.

CLUBWOMEN OF HARBOR PLAN CLINICS

COSTA MESA, June 26.—A large number of mothers of the Costa Mesa and Newport Beach district with infants up to six years of age are expected to attend the baby clinic to be held Friday morning between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock at the Ebell clubhouse in Newport Beach, according to Mrs. A. E. Block, chairman of the clinic committee of the local Friday Afternoon club. The Ebell club and the Friday Afternoon club are cooperating in the movement.

Drs. Richter and Grundy of Newport have volunteered their services in an advisory capacity and will be present tomorrow morning. Mrs. W. W. Crozier, chairman of the clinic committee of the Ebell club, Miss Ida Belle Dungan, county health nurse, will be present also.

Mothers with children who are expected to enter school in the fall are especially invited to attend with their babies, Mrs. Brock said. Mrs. Bessica Balche is chairman of the clinic committee of the Newport Beach club and has been a strong factor in increasing the interest in the work, Mrs. Block said.

Every Business Man—

—will do well to put a few hundred dollars into the Orange Blossom Knitting Mills, because the money the employees receive will find its way back into the merchant's pockets, not once, but many times over. It is also expected to pay him a better profit than his own business is now paying. In estimating that the common stock in this company will draw sixteen per cent, after the preferred has been paid eight per cent, we are figuring on a basis of working HALF CAPACITY ONLY.

IF CONDITIONS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EVER BECOME SO DEPRESSED THAT A HOSIERY MILL CAN ONLY OPERATE HALF THE TIME, THEN THE AVERAGE INDUSTRY WILL BE LONG SINCE CLOSED DOWN, AND BUSINESS MEN WILL BE THANKFUL THEY OWN SOMETHING THAT IS STILL OPERATING AT A PROFIT. BUSINESS IS ALWAYS GOOD IN A HOSIERY MILL. LET'S HELP BUILD SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

—You are now offered Orange Blossom Knitting Mill stock in units—two shares of preferred bearing 8% and one share of common (dividends unlimited) at the price of $2.00 per unit. Anything from Fifty Dollars up will do. You don't have to pay it all at once. You get the common stock free.

"PLASTER-BANDAGE" BANDIT MAKES GOOD ESCAPE WITH $2400 IN OLIVE BANK LOOT

Officers throughout the Southland today were seeking a "plaster-bandage" bandit who posed as an insurance agent to loot the First National Bank of Olive of $2400 in currency after locking the cashier and his woman assistant in a washroom. The robber over-looked $1200 which was in an unlocked drawer in the open vault, and escaped in a car after brandishing a revolver at a passing Pullerton autoist.

A well-dressed young man, wearing a bandage on his nose as a mask, walked into the bank shortly before 3 p. m., closing time yesterday, and engaged K. V. Wolff, cashier, in a conversation. In order more conveniently to display his insurance policies, the highwayman was admitted behind the cashier's partition.

After talking about insurance for fifteen minutes until all had left the institution except Wolff and Mrs. D. L. Dresser, assistant cashier, the "agent" opened his briefcase and displayed an automatic revolver which he brandished before Wolff and Mrs. Dresser, backing them into the vault.

Escape Imprisonment
When told that a burglar alarm "would ring all over town" if he attempted to lock the pair in the vault, the bandit backed the employees into a washroom, saying: "I know there's no alarm on that door."

He then took all of the currency he could find in the vault and in the cash drawer at the teller's window, taking $2400, according to Wolff, and over-looked $1200 in the vault.

Meanwhile, the imprisoned cashier succeeded in sliding the hinge bolts from the washroom door and removed the door. He reached the outer door in time to see the bandit speeding toward Anaheim in a dilapidated light automobile.

A short distance from the scene a high-powered blue touring car containing four persons drew alongside the small car and the bandit was seen to leap into the larger car which headed toward Los Angeles.

Pursuer Threatened
George Harris of Fullerton, one of the pursuers, was said to have attempted to crowd the bandit car off the highway, but when the latter's automobile was abreast of the other car the driver flashed a revolver in Harris' face, ordering him to "get off the road."

Within ten minutes after the robbery several police and sheriff automobiles had taken chase.

The bank cashier described the "bandit insurance agent" as 25 years old, dark complexioned, weighing 140 pounds, 5 feet 7 inches tall and wearing a grey tweed suit and straw hat.

A check of the money in the Olive bank today revealed that the exact amount secured by the "plaster bandit" was $1884, bank officials said. The loss was entirely covered by insurance; they claimed.

Mrs. Ida Strigel, who conducts a restaurant at Olive, said that the man with the plaster on his face, and two confederates, both short, heavy-set men, dressed in khaki suits with leather leggings, had dined at her place some fifteen minutes before the bank was robbed.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

BY AUTHORITY OF H. R. H.

A convenient peg upon which to hang almost any fad or fashion is the Prince of Wales. He must feel, with Shelley, that future "kings are like stars; they rise and set; they have the worship of the world, but no repose." There is precious little said in all the chaff that is written about H. R. H. He is represented as sponsoring almost any syllogism or solecism, from wearing his hat at the dizzy angle of a coster-monger to walking about with his hands rammed into his pockets like a stable boy.

Now, the Prince exercises an undoubted influence upon the dress of young men, but he is in no sense, as was his grandfather, Edward, the arbiter of fashion. He is the first one to give general vogue to the white waistcoat with Tuxedo dress. The mere fact that he departed so radically from custom and tradition attracted wide attention and immediate imitation. Today, the white waistcoat, instead of the black, is very generally worn if not by all men at least by those dreadnaughts who would almost rather be dead than not dress differently from the Ninety-and-Nine.

The accompanying sketch illustrates the fashionable white waistcoat together with the proper accessories. This garment is made of linen, cotton, pique, Marcella or Marseilles. It may be cut with the V-shaped, U-shaped or oval-shaped front opening as the whim of the wearer dictates. Usually 4-button, the sides are well-tailored and eyes (armholes) are cut low for free arm-reach and shoulder-swing. The bottom edges are blunt-cornered, if the garment is single-breasted, and squarish, if the waistcoat is double-breasted. The shirt has the solitary stud.

Tuxedo ties are of various spruce types, each becoming to some face, though not to all faces. There are the straight-across form; the very narrow; the very broad; the bowing bow and the butter-fly bow, the last having a tight knot and fan-shaped ends. It matters not which shape you select as long as it is becoming to your cast of features. Keep this always in mind and you will always keep in style.

PAMPERED BOY BIGAMIST TO LEARN FATE

Whether Sterling Eckert, alias James Kelly, 22, so called "palmy" and asserted spoiled darling of his family, goes to San Quentin prison for bigamy or goes free on probation, was a question nearing scheduled settlement.

Eckert's final hearing on the probation matter, is set for 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in the superior court of Judge Z. B. West. Expected reports on his references, which failed to arrive from the east in time for consideration at his hearing last Friday, were slated to be examined. Eckert, himself, was expected to take the witness stand in his battle for "another chance."

A severe grilling was believed to be in store for the youth whose ultra-modern tendencies in dress and deportment, together with his naive explanation that fortune tellers guided his matrimonial bark through three voyages, won for him the appellation of "palmy" sheik.

The prosecuting attorney, and probably the court as well, were expected to cross-examine Eckert closely upon details of his three marriages and the motives that inspired his rapid transit from wife to wife.

At the hearing last Friday relatives of the youth assumed blame for his "mistakes," saying that he had been pampered and petted by his parents and elder sisters, he being the only boy in the family, and had not received proper training.

At the age of 18, they said, he had married Jean Lieboldt, 13, of Milwaukee. Separating from her, he came to Los Angeles, and subsequently married Betty Ruth, 17, who now lives at Beverly Glen.

Just after the second wedding Eckert heard a rumor that his first wife had not received a divorce.

Wife-Remarried

He journeyed back to Milwaukee to learn the truth, it was said. He found his first wife had remarried, so he assumed that she had procured a divorce.

He separated almost immediately from the second wife, their married career lasting two weeks. Then, before the year was out, he had married Iris Margaret Dixon, 18, of Brea. They had gone to Seattle to live when the girl's brother, Eugene Dixon, learned of the second marriage, and went to Seattle, from where his sister accompanied him home.

In an ardent letter to the Brea girl after her departure from Seattle, Eckert, who had married her under the name of James Kelly, declared that he was sure that his second marriage had been annulled as the fortune tellers told him so. He had understood from the second wife, when she left him, that she intended having the marriage annulled at once, he stated.

No "Law Trouble"

The fortune tellers further assured him, he said in the letter, that there would be no "law trouble," so he intended following her to Brea.

He was as good as his word, and appeared shortly at Brea. But the fortune tellers failed to make their word good, the hand of the law falling upon Eckert soon after he arrived from the north. He was charged with bigamy, and subsequently pleaded guilty, asking for probation.

$100,000 Grove, Income Property Deal Completed

Among the most important real estate transactions reported today in Orange county was the exchange by C. L. Pearson of his orange groves northwest of Garden Grove to P. C. Huddleston for income property at Brea. The valuation in each case was estimated at more than $100,000.

The Pearson property included twenty acres of 10-year-old Valencia orange trees and a new modern residence. The transaction was negotiated by Ralph Pinkham of Garden Grove. Huddleston has been a city trustee at Brea for the past eight years.

Pinkham also reported that C. B. Scott had exchanged two acres at Costa Mesa to George Taylor of Garden Grove for forty acres east of San Diego.

Add 3 Carriers As Regulars At P. O. Here Soon

Three carriers will be added to the regular force of the Santa Ana postoffice July 1, T. E. Stephenson, postmaster, announced today. These carriers, who are on the substitute list are Edward Mackey, William Carithers and Ralph R. Hoover. The regular carrier force after July 1 will total twenty-one.

Increased business for the year to date warrants the addition of the additional carriers, according to James E. Alexander, assistant postmaster. Right at the present time, however, business shows no increase over that of a year ago, but is holding its own, Alexander stated. For the first six months the business will show an increase over the corresponding period a year ago, he said.

When you need more room—it is there!

THE Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car—not merely a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.

It was designed and built for seven-passenger service—with a motor of ample power and stamina for seven-passenger satisfaction.

Then, too, with the auxiliary seats folded away, the Big-Six becomes the most desirable five-passenger car in which you have ridden, with room enough for all the luggage you will ever need.

Big-Six appearance is attractive, distinctive, and in good taste. Its performance, acceleration, flexibility and dependability are known and respected the world over.

No car, regardless of price, surpasses it in quality or completeness of equipment.

If a smaller manufacturer or assembler were to build the Big-Six—of equal quality and workmanship—his price would be $3,500—perhaps more.

But Big-Six overhead is distributed over six times as many units as are built by any Big-Six competitor, hence Big-Six cost and selling price are surprisingly low.

Don't buy blindfolded. Examine, ride in and drive the Big-Six before you buy any other car.

This Pretty Girl Defies Age By Using Ordinary Buttermilk To Beautify Her Complexion

Tells Druggists not to take any one's money unless this delightful new vanishing Cream quickly shows a decided improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of the use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows' feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms, caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today!

BOARD LETS CONTRACT FOR ROOSEVELT SCHOOL TO L. A. FIRM GETTING FIFTH AWARD

Contract for the building of a ten-room Roosevelt graded school, at the corner of First and Maple streets, was awarded to Simpson & Company, a Los Angeles contracting firm, at the semi-monthly meeting of the Santa Ana board of education held late yesterday.

Simpson & Company were the second lowest bidders. The lowest bid was made by F. J. Homan, Santa Ana contractor, but was thrown out of the competition because a certified check, as was specified did not accompany the bid.

The Simpson & Company bid was $77,970, as compared with the Homan bid of $74,891, and included the general contract of building the new school.

The awarding of the contract for the building was held up indefinitely by the board to allow time for the architect, F. H. Eley, to investigate the bids and bidders.

Eleven Bidders

There were eleven bidders for the general contract, all of which offers ranged within a few thousands of dollars of each other. Other offers were:

R. C. McMillan, Santa Ana, $79,686; Daniels and Farris, Pasadena, $79,520; Hill & Rhoad, Santa Ana, $81,500; George A. Baarow, Santa Ana, $81,856; Bowman & Preble, Santa Ana, $90,895; Alfred Pibel, Anaheim, $87,362; Jules Markel, Santa Ana, $78,474; O. T. Moore, Santa Ana, $78,729; Anton Johnson, Los Angeles, $79,890.

The lowest bidder for the general heating of the new school is the Ehlen & Dietrich Company of Orange, with George Cocking, of Santa Ana, second. The low bid was $5,298 and the Cocking bid was $5,411. Other bidders for this type of work were Emmerson & Keeler, Los Angeles, $6,073; Munger & Munger, Pasadena, $5,791; S. Hill & Son, Santa Ana, $6,287; Hickman Bros., Long Beach, $6,303.

Fifth Award Here

In being awarded the bid for the building of the Roosevelt school, Simpson & Company succeeded in their fifth school building job in Santa Ana in the past five years. In 1920 the company built the auditorium of the Polytechnic high school; in 1921, the Franklin school; in 1922 the Washington school, and in 1923, the McKinley school.

Aside from the awarding of contract for the Roosevelt school, the board awarded the Standard Fence Company of Los Angeles the contract for new fencing around the high school athletic field and for several other small jobs of fencing.

A deed giving the city a strip of land at the intersection of Ross and Camille streets was signed and ordered turned over to the city. Due to the fact that the intersection has been considered by city officials and members of the school board as a hazardous one, and on condition that the city use the property to straighten the intersection as much as possible, the board agreed to donate the property to the city. The city, it was reported,

Rum Terror Reign Charged in Suffolk

NEW YORK, June 25.—Charges that bootleggers have instituted a reign of terror in Suffolk county, Long Island, with threats of death and destruction of property predominating, were made at a meeting of the Long Island Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Patchogue. The principal charges were made by Captain Charles Gordon, bayman, duck raiser and klan leader, who declared that he, his son and other residents of Eastport, had been warned that if they did not cease criticizing and chasing rum-runners they would be killed. He had been warned to move from the town, he said.

Vocal solo, "Selected," Will H. Gallienne, soloist.
Grand selections, "Songs From the Old Folks," M. L. Lake.

MUSICIANS PLEASE BEACH LIONS CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 26.—Ted Tarbox and Harry Groves, chairmen of the day at the Lions club, yesterday gave the local club some of the best music the club has been privileged to enjoy for some time when they presented a number of local artists.

Miss Nell Mitchell, local girl, delighted the club with several clever selections on a saw. The young woman recently took up the study of the saw and has become quite expert. She also played several pieces on her banjo and harmonica, and danced several times. Miss Mildred Moore played the accompaniment on the piano for the girls.

Miss Donna Jones of this city was another youthful entertainer heartily applauded by the local Lions. Miss Jones, who is but seven years of age, gave several selected readings which were especially good. Other numbers on the program were supplied by John Soden and Robert Snell, in a saxophone duet. Miss Elise Armitage gave several vocal solos, and Miss Mildred Moore played several pieces on the piano.

Two Residents of Westminster Die

WESTMINSTER, June 26.—W. Y. Gabriel died at the county hospital Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. Mr. Gabriel recently underwent an operation and after seemingly recovering from the effects of the operation, he had to be taken back a day or so ago for attention. His death comes as a great shock to his family, a widow and two daughters, Daisy and Mamie, a mother, sister and two brothers also are left. He will be buried Thursday afternoon from Smith and Tutill parlors. Interment will be in the Fairhaven cemetery.

B. A. Farrar died Monday morning in Pomona, at the Pomona hospital. He was 82 years old, and greatly beloved by persons in this community.

LAY PLANS FOR MEET OF CAL. REALTY MEN

"No sooner is one real estate convention over than announcements are in the mails for another similar event," W. B. Martin of the local realty board, said today. He then explained that the twentieth annual convention of the California Real Estate association, which is to be held October 8 to 11, promises to rival the attendance record of the convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards held at Washington recently.

Caravans from the northern, central and southern sections of the state are being formed, and it is predicted that Oakland and San Francisco will send 500 delegates to the state convention, traveling as an automobile caravan from the bay cities. And Santa Ana will be represented, too, Martin declared.

Raise $3000 Fund
The members of the Pasadena Realty board have raised in excess of $3000 to be used as the entertainment fund of the convention and the various committees of the board are already at work on the program of entertainment.

The realty baseball championship of the state will be decided at the convention. The golf tournament will be held, probably at the Flintridge country club. The Home-Town contest for the Fred E. Reed cup has caused the realty boards of the state to arrange contests to select the speaker to represent each board.

National Chief Guest
President H. A. Ennis of the National Association of Real Estate boards will be one of the guests at Pasadena at the convention.

Los Angeles and Southern California will have 1500 in the attendance of the Los Angeles realty board, with 550 members will have to present an almost solid front to capture the attendance prize which is based on the miles, rather than the number of persons at the convention.

San Diego and the Imperial valley realty boards will probably form a caravan from the South. Fresno and the San Joaquin valley towns are making special arrangements for the convention and will make a strong showing, it is said, for Fresno is seeking the 1925 convention for that city.

Stage and Screen

YOUNG STAGE, FILM STARS APPEAR HERE

Almost a score of the most talented youngsters of stage and screen, many who have been seen here in vaudeville sketches, entertained hundreds of Santa Ana boys and girls at the Yost theater yesterday afternoon as the feature of an advertising campaign for the junior section of a Los Angeles newspaper.

Little Billy Lord, aged 6 years, well known screen juvenile, was master of ceremonies for he handled the traffic into the theater and appeared on the stage with L. C. Rogers, Santa Ana city marshal. Newton Hall, who played the role of George Bassett in the film version of "Penrod and Sam," was another well known juvenile present. Others that appeared in songs and dance numbers included Ronald Lively, Herman Tryer, Tommy and Betty Wonder, Dorothy Farrell, Lorraine Platz, Frankie Dunn, Jimmy Osborn and Muriel McCormick.

"THE SPITFIRE" CLOSING AT YOST TONIGHT
When Frederic Arnold Kummer's novel, "Plaster Saints" was placed before the reading public by the Macaulay company of New York it found instant favor through its modern theme. As a result of the wonderful popularity of the book, Murray W. Garson obtained the picture rights and made a corking good production which he christened "The Spitfire." In the making of the film, which closes tonight at the Yost theater, Garson engaged William Christy Cabanne to direct it and made sure that an all-star cast was placed at Cabanne's command.

For the heroine, Betty Blythe, lately returned from Europe where she made several pictures, including "Chu Chin Chow," was engaged. Elliott Dexter was signed to play "opposite" Miss Blythe. The "heavy" was entrusted to Lowell Sherman, the stage and screen star, and who had just closed a Broadway starring engagement. Others engaged were Pauline Garon, Robert Warwick and Burr McIntosh who play prominent roles.

"UNSEEN HANDS" OPENS AT WEST END TONIGHT
Wallace Beery in "Unseen Hands," a corking big dramatic picture, will be the principal attraction at the West End theater tonight.

"Unseen Hands" packs a world of thrills, climaxes that will grip an audience by the throat and give the kind of entertainment that the young and old appreciate the most. Beery has the greatest characterization that he has yet portrayed upon the silver sheet. He plays Jean Scholast, a man of romance, adventure, and action, who stoops at everything and anything to obtain his desires. It is red-blooded entertainment, not a dull minute during the time that the story swings into action with Beery as a man who becomes powerful through the good graces of a rich mine owner and his beautiful wife and then causes the death of one and the bringing of great sorrow to the other, when he deserts her after marriage.

"HAPPINESS" CLOSING AT WALKER'S TONIGHT

A father who left home, a mother who continually grieves over her defaulting husband—that is the background of Jenny's life. Jenny, the little milliner's helper whose philosophy is merely to make other persons happy, and never mind the setbacks. See Laurette Taylor play this delightful, saucy, bouncing girl of New York's work-a-day population in "Happiness," her new picture, which closes tonight at Walker's theater.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 26.—Stocks staged a vigorous demonstration in today's session. Constructive operations today reached the highest pitch since the present forward movement was set in motion, by the unanimity which prevailed at the Cleveland assembly earlier in the month.

No letup took place in bullish activity in the last hour and leading stocks attained new highs in the closing dealings. Steel common continued to lead the industrials forward, reaching a further new high on the current recovery at 99½.

In the rail group, low priced issues were favored. New Haven bettered its previous 1924 record in a spurt to 25½ while Ontario and Western sold at its best price of the year at 22 on the expectation of a small dividend payment in the fall.

The market closed higher on the closing prices included:
U. S. Steel 99½, up ½; Baldwin, 114½, up 1½; Studebaker 237½, up ¾; American Can 101½, up 1½; American Wool 72½, up 1½; Cast Iron Pipe 55½, up ½; Wolworth 10½, up ½; C. & W. 123½, up 1½; B. & O. 58½, up ½; New Haven 25½, up 1½; New York Central 107½, up ¾; Southern Railway 65½, up ½; N. & W. 119½, up ½; Lehigh Valley 46, up ¾.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD LEGS IN GAME TOLD

Ty Cobb Says His Success Due to Underpinnings; Hitting Best Asset

By BILLY EVANS,
(American League Umpire)

What is the greatest asset of the all-around baseball star, the player who shines in every department of the game?

The first answer that would naturally come to such a question would be the ability to hit.

True, that is a most important feature of play. It would be a difficult matter for a player to be rated a star if unable to hit.

Put the question of the one greatest asset of the star, to the star, and his reply is invariably the same—

"A good pair of legs."

Recently I have discussed the question of greatness with a dozen of the stars of the major leagues.

All of them dwelled on the fact, that the legs determined in a large measure the general efficiency of the player.

Players abuse their eyes in many ways, little thought is given their arms, but how they coddle their legs.

The sudden starts and stops demanded of the ball player are prone to tear loose certain tendons, that for the time render the player useless. This trouble in baseball is known by the rather freakish name of "charley horse."

Suffering from "charley horse" leg trouble is most painful.

"To a staunch pair of legs that have held up under all kinds of strain I owe most of my success in baseball," is the way Ty Cobb once estimated the value of his underpinnings.

"Fleetness of foot is a great factor in fielding, particularly from the standpoint of an outfielder. It enables him to go get 'em. A player can be taught to catch the ball, but he cannot have speed injected into him. That is a gift of nature," continued Cobb.

Cobb alone remains of the players who comprised the American league when I made my debut as an umpire back in 1906. For 19 years Cobb has constantly been taking chances on the ball field. Experts figured he would soon slow up, but he goes merrily on his way.

True, Cobb is no longer the speed demon that he was when the Tygers were winning pennants, but he is still able to step down to first right smart.

Cobb candidly admits that he feels old in the legs only, and then in the same breath, tells you that the slowing up that is creeping into his underpinnings has reflected in his entire play.

Good legs capable of speed make for base hits, worry the opposition, hurry the play and in general have a far-reaching effect not only on the individual but team play as well.

In baseball, the moment a player's legs start to go back on him, his general play suffers and he is convinced he is slipping.

No wonder the ball players rate a good pair of legs as their greatest asset.

Strongly entrenched in second place of the Santa Ana Boosters' league as the result of their 4 to 0 victory over the Fuller Paint company at the A. and B. alleys here last night, the bowling team of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, today retained its excellent chance of heading off the Orange Standard Oil company five for the banner.

The War veterans, off to a good beginning, never gave the Fullers a chance. They thrice went by the 300 mark and registered a total of 2561 pins. Their assault on the maples being materially aided by Lin Crawford who had marks of 201-158-234. Crawford's 234 record put him in a tie with four other bowlers for high competition mark in the league.

Anti-Alien Land Act to Be Strongly Enforced, Is Claim

HANFORD, June 25.—The California anti-alien land law will be rigidly enforced in Kings county and white farmers should lend their co-operation in preventing violations of the act, District Attorney W. R. McKay told growers whom he had called into conference to warn against hiring Orientals.

District Attorney McKay said that the only legal way in which a farmer can employ Japanese now is by paying a daily wage.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The strange and perplexing case of Mr. James Joseph Tunney, known professionally as Gene, is to be wheeled back into the operating room for further clinical experiments. Mr. Tunney, professing to be the light heavy-weight champion of America, has signed to exchange punches, as the saying goes, with Georges Carpentier, celebrated French foot racer, here next month. Nobody seems to be able to state with any degree of positiveness whether Mr. Tunney, a fictitious product of the A. E. F., is a first-class fighting unit or not.

We discussed his case with Martin Burke, champion heavyweight of the south, some days ago. Burke was brief and to the point.

"I think he's an awful tomato," he said.

Gene Nursed Along.
Burke, however, may have been mildly prejudiced, since the remarks were made several hours after a fight in which he had taken a severe wallop from Tunney.

Tunney Gibbons is another fighting gentleman who can hardly keep a straight face when Tunney's name is mentioned.

"I'll say this for him, though, he uses beautiful English."

Gibbons, too, may be moderately prejudiced. The St. Paul shamrock has been trying, unsuccessfully, for several seasons to get a shot at Tunney.

Much of the skepticism regarding Tunney's ability grew out of the extreme caution with which his manager, the shrewd Billy Gibson, engineered his matches. If the boys looked too tough, Mr. Tunney was kept far away from them.

With the exception of the two Greb bouts, Tunney hasn't faced a really high grade bantam Tunney. In his first bout, Tunney was beaten, in the second he was victorious. In neither did he look the part of a sensation.

Gibson, his manager, tells you Tunney is a greatly improved fighter and predicts he will beat Carpentier worse than Gibbons did at Michigan City.

"I brought Tunney along slowly," says Gibson. "Just as I brought Leonard along by easy stages. Tunney didn't look any worse in his fledgling days than Benny did. Finally Benny reached his real form and won the world's lightweight championship. Tunney won the American light heavy-weight title before reaching his top-most ability. Today he is really a great fighter."

Gibson is, of course, not unlike the common run of fight managers, and one should not take his enthusiasm too seriously.

Tunney is a pretty fair fighter, but no world beater. He is fast and clever and these qualities ought to win for him over the decrepit Carpentier.

Tunney, however, has never been a great aggressive fighter. Taking chances is not his specialty. Carpentier can still fling a fairly hard straight right. Tunney may decide that discretion is eminently the better part of valor, and go into a shell.

If he does it will be a terrible fight to watch, for the Frenchman proved in his marathon with Gibbons that he can retreat with the worst of them.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

In predicting an American triumph in the track and field games at Paris in July, consideration has been given to the fact that as the races get longer this country's strength lessens.

In the sprints, the United States is supreme. Four men could acquire the dread "Charley horse" or suffer some other calamity, and we have four other short-distance men to fill their places.

But there are 23 events on the track and field program, and in some of the others America will have to take a back seat.

The French have succeeded in arranging matters so that only four men from any one nation can enter any one event, with exception of the marathon, in which six may start. This means that the most points this country can win in the 100 meters, for instance, is 22.

It would not be surprising if we did get just that many in both the 100 and 200 meters.

In the 400 meters we have J. Coard Taylor's record-breaking run at Cambridge to raise our hopes of ultimate victory and a place at the top of the flagpole, but here the ingress of European stars upon the point-winning places begins.

In the 800 meters, with Bill Richardson, Leland Stanford; S. C. Enck, Penn State's great runner; Ray Dodge, Ray Watson and the game, but inexperienced, "Soapy" Watters, the United States is well represented, but it is probable that the French, English and other European middle-distance stars will break through the American front here. However, in both the 400 and 800, we have every right to expect that this country will get as many points as all the other nations put together.

Aware of the fact that America's strength was "a man good men around the powers that be" in this 8th Olympiad saw to it that first place counted 10 points, second 5, third 4, fourth 3, fifth 2 and sixth one. This militates against the United States, but we should worry! We have not only a lot of good men, but perhaps the one best man in the four short races.

In the 1,500 meters and the 3,000 meters we find our main strength in those sterling Chicago athletes, Mr. Joley Ray and Mr. Ray Barker, "Ike and Mike" of the Illinois A. C. At Cambridge, Mr. Barker attended to the shorter of the two runs, while Mr. Ray accounted for a first place in the longer.

Unfortunately for these boys, there is a Finn named Nurmi, who, if right, and he generally is, can run them into the ground one after the other. And Johnny Romig, our best at 5,000 meters, and Verne Booth, in the 10,000 meter event, are likely to encounter trouble in this same direction.

A-B BOWLING TRIO DEFEAT BROADWAYS

'Stormy' Gordon Averages 205 For Five Matches; High Mark Is 248

The all-star trio from the A. and B. bowling alleys today held a long lead in their series with their three rivals from the Broadway academy following the second of their matches at the Broadway parlors here last night.

The A. and B. triumvirate captured four out of five games and five out of the six points. Their total pin score was 2834 as against 2558 for the Specials.

"Stormy" Gordon of the West Fourth street crew cracked the maples for a grand five-game average of 205, plus. His second game, in which he rolled a 248, was high for the evening.

FIRST SHOT IN GOLF HARDEST SAYS HAGEN

Still Has 'Stage Fright' at Tee No. 1 During Big Tournaments

Walter Hagen says the two hardest shots for him in a big championship golf tournament are the first and last tee shots.

"I've been playing the game for years," relates Hagen, "but I never fail to experience an emotion somewhat akin to stage fright when I step up to hit the first shot in a championship. I imagine this is due to the faith I have in the first shot as a barometer. If it gets away in good style, I feel rather assured that I am in for a low score."

The last tee shot is a terrific ordeal, especially if you have a chance for the championship. Even if you are leading by four or five strokes, the threat of possible disaster is inescapable. You have visions of a badly trapped ball, an unplayable lie, a complete loss of control. The nerve pressure is at its greatest during the final moments."

Hagen Right.
Hagen is, no doubt, right. At Oakland Hills, in the open championship, Cyril Walker, who was destined to win the title, didn't make more than three or four wild tee shots all during the tournament. One of these came at the 15th tee on the final round, the last tee shot he was asked to make.

Walker tore into the ball too quickly, got his hands in ahead of the club head, sliced badly to the right and was almost completely stymied by a tee. Fortunately, he was able to get to the ball, and played a safety shot out in the open.

Had the ball been in the rough a foot or so farther Walker might have had to spend several shots getting out and the title which seemed so surely his would have gone to another.

Missed Easy Puts.
Davey Robertson, gray-haired Detroit professional, in this same tournament, needed a three at the 17th and a four at the 18th to tie Bobby Jones, who had finished with 200. Robertson was on the short 17th green with his drive, and then took three putts. He was on the 18th with his second and again took three putts. On both greens he missed three-footers.

The finishing pressure was too tight, even for this seasoned campaigner.

L. A. DOUBLES PAIR IN COAST TOURNEY

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Southern California's best tennis team, Snodgrass and Westbrook, will be entered in the 37th annual Pacific coast doubles championship which begins next Tuesday on the L. A. Tennis club courts.

Three-time winners, the San Francisco pair of Howard and Bob Kinsey, will be on hand again to try for another year with the title. Strong opposition is expected to develop from William M. Johnston and "Peck" Griffin, 1914 champions who are reported to have sent in their entries.

Winners in this tournament will meet champions of other sectional affairs at the national meet in Boston.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD LEGS IN GAME TOLD

Ty Cobb Says His Success Due to Underpinnings; Hitting Best Asset

By BILLY EVANS,
(American League Umpire)

What is the greatest asset of the all-around baseball star, the player who shines in every department of the game?

The first answer that would naturally come to such a question would be the ability to hit.

True, that is a most important feature of play. It would be a difficult matter for a player to be rated a star if unable to hit.

Put the question of the one greatest asset of the star, to the star, and his reply is invariably the same—

"A good pair of legs."

Recently I have discussed the question of greatness with a dozen of the stars of the major leagues. All of them dwelled on the fact, that the legs determined in a large measure the general efficiency of the player.

Players abuse their eyes in many ways, little thought is given their arms, but how they coddle their legs.

The sudden starts and stops demanded of the ball player are prone to tear loose certain tendons, that for the time render the player useless. This trouble in baseball is known by the rather freakish name of "charley horse."

Suffering from "charley horse" leg trouble is most painful.

"To a staunch pair of legs that have held up under all kinds of strain I owe most of my success in baseball," is the way Ty Cobb once estimated the value of his underpinnings.

"Fleetness of foot is a great factor in fielding, particularly from the standpoint of an outfielder. It enables him to go get 'em. A player can be taught to catch the ball, but he cannot have speed injected into him. That is a gift of nature," continued Cobb.

Cobb alone remains of the players who comprised the American league when I made my debut as umpire back in 1906. For 19 years Cobb has constantly been taking chances on the ball field. Experts figured he would soon slow up, but he goes merrily on his way.

True, Cobb is no longer the speed demon that he was when the Tygers were winning pennants, but he is still able to step down to first right smart.

Cobb candidly admits that he feels old in the legs only, and then in the same breath, tells you that the slowing up that is creeping into his underpinnings has reflected in his entire play.

Good legs capable of speed make for base hits, worry the opposition, hurry the play and in general have a far-reaching effect not only on the individual but team play as well.

In baseball, the moment a player's legs start to go back on him, his general play suffers and he is convinced he is slipping.

No wonder the ball players rate a good pair of legs as their greatest asset.

L. A. DOUBLES PAIR IN COAST TOURNEY

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Southern California's best tennis team, Snodgrass and Westbrook, will be entered in the 37th annual Pacific coast doubles championship which begins next Tuesday on the L. A. Tennis club courts.

Three-time winners, the San Francisco pair of Howard and Bob Kinsey, will be on hand again to try for another year with the title. Strong opposition is expected to develop from William M. Johnston and "Peck" Griffin, 1914 champions who are reported to have sent in their entries.

Winners in this tournament will meet champions of other sectional affairs at the national meet in Boston.

Crawford Rolls 234 to Tie With Four Others For High League Mark

S. A. BOOSTER'S LEAGUE

Strongly entrenched in second place of the Santa Ana Boosters' league as the result of their 4 to 0 victory over the Fuller Paint company at the A. and B. alleys here last night, the bowling team of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, today retained its excellent chance of heading off the Orange Standard Oil company five for the banner.

The War veterans, off to a good beginning, never gave the Fullers a chance. They thrice went by the 500 mark and registered a total of 2561 pins. Their assault on the maples being materially aided by Lin Crawford who had marks of 201-158-234. Crawford's 234 record put him in a tie with four other bowlers for high competition mark in the league.

Anti-Alien Land Act to Be Strongly Enforced, Is Claim

HANFORD, June 25.—The California anti-alien land law will be rigidly enforced in Kings county and white farmers should lend their cooperation in preventing violations of the act, District Attorney W. R. McKay told growers whom he had called into conference to warn against hiring Orientals.

District Attorney McKay said that the only legal way in which a farmer can employ Japanese now is by paying a daily wage.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The strange and perplexing case of Mr. James Joseph Tunney, known professionally as Gene, is to be wheeled back into the operating room for further clinical experiments.

Mr. Tunney, professing to be the light heavy-weight champion of America, has signed to exchange punches, as the saying goes, with Georges Carpentier, celebrated French foot racer, here next month. Nobody seems to be able to state with any degree of positiveness whether Mr. Tunney, a fistie product of the A. E. F., is a first-class fighting unit or not.

We discussed his case with Martin Burke, champion heavyweight of the south, some days ago. Burke was brief and to the point.

"I think he's an awful tomato," he said.

Gene Nursed Along.

Burke, however, may have been mildly prejudiced, since the remarks were made several hours after a fight in which he had taken a severe wallop from Tunney.

Tommy Gibbons is another fighting gentleman who can hardly give a straight face when Tunney's name is mentioned.

"I'll say this for him, though, he uses beautiful English," Gibbons, too, may be moderately prejudiced. The St. Paul shamrock has been trying, unsuccessfully, for several seasons to get a shot at Tunney.

Much of the skepticism regarding Tunney's ability grew out of the extreme caution with which his manager, the shrewd Billy Gibson, engineered his matches. If the boys looked too tough, Mr. Tunney was kept far away from them.

With the exception of the two Greb bouts, Tunney hasn't faced a really high grade batter. In the first Greb bout, Tunney was beaten, in the second he was victorious, in neither did he look the part of a sensation.

Gibson, his manager, tells you Tunney is a greatly improved fighter and predicts he will beat Carpentier worse than Gibbons did at Michigan City.

"I brought Tunney along slowly," says Gibson, "just as I brought Benny Leonard along by easy stages. Tunney didn't look any worse in his fledgling days than Benny did. Finally Benny reached his real form and won the world's lightweight championship. Tunney will do the same thing."

Tunney is a pretty fair fighter, but no world beater. He is fast and clever and these qualities ought to win for him over the deceptively Carpentier.

Tunney, however, has never been a great aggressive fighter. Taking chances is not his specialty. Carpentier can still fling a fairly hard straight right. Tunney may decide that discretion is eminently the better part of valor, and go into a shell.

If he does it will be a terrible fight to watch, for the Frenchman proved in his marathon with Gibbons that he can retreat with the worst of them.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

In predicting an American triumph in the track and field games at Paris in July, consideration has been given to the fact that as the races get longer this country's strength lessens.

In the sprints, the United States is supreme. Four men could acquire the dread "Charley horse" or suffer some other calamity, and we have four other short-distance men to fill their places.

But there are 23 events on the track and field program, and in some of the others America will have to take a back seat.

The French have succeeded in arranging matters so that only four men from any one nation can enter any one event, with exception of the marathon, in which six may start. This means that the most points this country can win in the 100 meters, for instance, is 22.

It would not be surprising if we did get just that many in both the 100 and 200 meters.

In the 400 meters we have J. Coard Taylor's record-breaking run at Cambridge to raise our hopes of ultimate victory and a place at the top of the flagpole.

But the progress of European stars upon the point-winning places begins.

In the 500 meters, with Bill Richardson, Leland Stanford; S. C. Enck, Penn State's great runner; Ray Dodge, Ray Watson and the game, but inexperienced, "Soapy" Watters, the United States is well represented, but it is probable that the French, English and other European middle-distance stars will break through the American front here. However, in both the 400 and 500, we have every right to expect that this country will get as many points as all the other nations put together.

Aware of the fact that America's strength was "team strength," with a whole lot of good men around, the powers that were in this 8th Olympiad saw to it that first place counted 10 points, second 5, third 4, fourth 3, fifth 2 and sixth one. This militates against the United States, but we should worry! We have not only a lot of good men, but perhaps the one best man in the four short races.

In the 1,500 meters and the 3,000 meters, we find our main strength in those sterling Chicago athletes, Mr. Joley Ray and Mr. Ray Barker, "Mike and Mike" of the Illinois A. C. At Cambridge, Mr. Barker attended to the shorter of the two runs, while Mr. Ray accounted for a first place in the longer.

Unfortunately for these boys, there is a Finn named Nurmi, who, if right, and he generally is, can run them into the ground one after the other. And Johnny Romig, our best at 5,000 meters, and Verne Booth, in the 10,000 meter event, are likely to encounter trouble in this same direction.

A-B BOWLING TRIO DEFEAT BROADWAYS

'Stormy' Gordon Averages 205 For Five Matches; High Mark Is 248

The all-star trio from the A. and B. bowling alleys today held a long lead in their series with their three rivals from the Broadway academy following the second of their matches at the Broadway parlors here last night.

The A. and B. triumvirate captured four out of five games and five out of the six points. Their total pin score was 2534 as against 2558 for the Specials.

Fourth street crew cracked the maples for a grand five-game average of 205, plus. His second game, in which he rolled a 248, was high for the evening.

FIRST SHOT IN GOLF HARDEST SAYS HAGEN

Still Has 'Stage Fright' at Tee No. 1 During Big Tournaments

Walter Hagen says the two hardest shots for him in a big championship golf tournament are the first and last tee shots.

"I've been playing the game for years," relates Hagen, "but I never fail to experience an emotion somewhat akin to stage fright when I step up to hit the first shot in a championship. I imagine this is due to the faith I have in the first shot as a barometer. If it gets away in good style, I feel rather assured that I am in for a low score."

"The last tee shot is a terrific ordeal, especially if you have a chance for the championship. Even if you are leading by four or five strokes, the threat of possible disaster is inescapable. You have visions of a badly trapped ball, an unplayable lie, a complete loss of control. The nerve pressure is at its greatest during the final moments."

Hagen Right.

Hagen is no doubt, right. At Oakland Hills in the open championship, Cyril Walker, who was destined to win the title, didn't make more than three or four wild tee shots all during the tournament. One of these came at the 18th tee on the final round, the last tee shot he was asked to make.

Walker tore into the ball too quickly, got his hands in ahead of the club head, sliced badly to the right and was almost completely stymied by a tee. Fortunately, he was able to get to the ball, and played a safety shot out in the open.

Had the ball been in the rough a foot or so farther Walker might have had to spend several shots getting out and the title which seemed so surely his would have gone to another.

Missed Easy Puts.

Davey Robertson, gray-haired Detroit professional, in this same tournament, needed a three at the 17th and a four at the 18th to tie Bobby Jones, who had finished with 300. Robertson was on the short 17th green with his drive, and then took three putts. He was on the 18th with his second and again took three putts. On both greens he missed three-footers.

The finishing pressure was too tight, even for this seasoned campaigner.

SEWER PROJECT IS OUTLINED TO CITIES

FULLERTON, June 26.—Proposals for solving the sewer problems of the western limits of Fullerton, of La Habra and Buena Park have been outlined in a report submitted to the sanitary district boards of the two last-named sections by L. Wayne McCollum, local engineer. He presents three propositions.

One of these is a line to run south on Magnolia to Ocean avenue and thence to a junction point at Garden Grove; this will cost around $91,000, it is estimated.

The second is for a main to start at the intersection of Magnolia and Valencia to run along Brookhurst south to Orange, thence east to Nicolas. This will entail an expenditure of around $58,000.

The other is for a line on Valencia to Brookhurst, south to Orange, thence east to Nicolas. The cost of this line is estimated at $38,000. Pumping plants will be needed for all three schemes, it is reported.

The advantage of the longest and most expensive of the lines lies in the fact that it would be linked up with the joint outfall below the main centers of population in northern Orange county.

The propositions are to be considered by each of the joint participants in the outfall system as well as by the city council here.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, June 26.—A large number of Westminster residents are planning to go to the Odd Fellows' picnic, which will be held Saturday, June 28, in the Genesha park in Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry McBride and Miss Rosalia Carter motored to Downey Monday.

Robb Cavanah was in Los Angeles Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Lulu Nankervis was here Tuesday, calling on Mrs. Beatrice Knapp and Mrs. A. W. Knox.

The Boy Scouts practiced on the boulevard Tuesday afternoon for some time and some of them will receive their badges Monday night when they will show some of their Scout work before the P. T. A. meeting.

The Happy Workers met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. L. E. Barry, with about forty-five women present and a number of children.

At noon a delicious hot dinner was served by Mrs. Hannah Francis, chairman, Mrs. W. T. Wardle, Mrs. Bertha Folger, Mrs. Sarah Everett, Mrs. Herman Thompson, Mrs. Frank Johnson and Mrs. McCall, members of the serving committee.

The secretary, Mrs. W. B. McCoy, read the minutes, and the treasurer reported a total of $143.57 on hand; plans for a room to be used for social purposes to be built at the church were discussed, and a dollar social arranged, which will be held in November. Mrs. Barry had flowers gracefully arranged about her spacious home, and as each guest entered, she was "greeted" and presented with a gilt-edged befringed paper cap, which furnished great amusement as each guest arrived.

The Aloah Rebekah Lodge initiated five members Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Conrad, Miss Vera Baker, Mrs. S. A. Darling, and Dr. Richard Foster, and although Mrs. Lulu Nankervis could not be present, her initiating staff performed their duties with a nicety. Almost all of the members of the Acacia Lodge of Huntington Beach, and a number from the Sycamore Lodge in Santa Ana were present. Supper was served at a late hour.

The birthday of Mrs. W. L. Church was delightfully celebrated by her friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Lindstrom in Huntington Beach Saturday, when the two families enjoyed ice cream and a beautiful birthday cake with candles.

Fullerton Seeks Data on Cost of Own Power Plant

FULLERTON, June 26.—Marking another important step in Fullerton's aspirations towards establishing its own municipal power plant, City Engineer W. C. Record has been given authority to engage an electrical expert to make appraisals of local electrical lines.

Record intimated today that he expects to be able next week to submit a preliminary report giving estimates of the cost of a city generating plant.

Following warm criticism of the Southern California Edison company for its application to raise the power and lighting rates at a meeting two weeks ago the council directed Record to gather all the data he could on municipal plants with a view to the submission of a bond issue here to start a city system.

LAGUNA BEACH HAS NEW STREET SIGNS

LAGUNA BEACH, June 26.—Laguna Beach has again been provided with street signs. About two years ago signs were placed on all streets intersecting the Coast boulevard; these signs were destroyed by unthinking people, some using the signs for fire-wood, others for target practice.

The Chamber of Commerce has placed new street signs at all streets intersecting Pacific boulevard from the north end of McKnight's addition to the south boundary of Arch Beach Heights addition. Geo. S. McCue in specification of this new improvement stated:

"Laguna Beach is considered by many non-residents as just a very small place, and that if a person rented a cottage, one might just say, 'Go to the top of the cliff and turn to your right, two blocks, and it is the little house on the left.'"

"But that was not Laguna. It has been left far behind. It has outgrown that sort of thing. People should necessarily give better directions to friends who contemplate visiting them, and it is for this reason that the new street signs are placed at all street intersections on the main boulevard."

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Marshburn to the effect that they are up above Eugene, Ore., visiting, Mrs. Marshburn's brother, Ray Barnett, who is located there with an engineering company, for the summer.

They have had a very pleasant trip and without the usual car trouble and are enjoying the beautiful mountain scenery, as well as a pleasant visit.

Lee Barnett's cousin, Miss Hazel Barnett, from Whiteboro, Texas, is here to spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett.

Old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Pleasant and daughter, Wilma, and son, Martin, have located here. At present they are living in the house recently occupied by Mrs. Crowell.

Miss Wilma Pleasant is attending summer school at the University of Southern California.

Mrs. Frances Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett, Miss Hazel Barnett, Mr. Ritchie Barnett spent Sunday in Eagle Rock visiting a cousin there.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Pleasant and family and Mrs. Tattie Leonard spent part of last week in San Diego visiting relatives there.

Miss Lena May Wilsey entertained a few of her friends with a steak bake at Hewes Ranch Friday evening. A jolly time was enjoyed. Those present were Ruby Gray, Mildred Binkley, Dorothy Lutz, Lynvieve Paddock, and Lena May Wilsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meier spent part of last week at Laguna Beach.

Mrs. Eva Reddon who has been spending some time at Long Beach with her daughter is now again with Mrs. Stephen McPherson.

Mrs. H. B. Hawes has returned from the Loma Linda hospital where she was taking treatments.

A committee composed of Mrs. C. E. Yount, president of the Parent-Teachers' association, Miss Mary L. Stearns, Mrs. William Stearns and Mrs. Grow S. Brown, have been appointed by the association and are working on the plans for the kitchen here next year.

According to members of this committee, an instantaneous water heater, and several of the latest gas plates and stoves will be installed in the kitchen. It is planned to supply every child in the school with a hot lunch daily, if desired.

COSTA MESA, June 26.—Plans are well under way here by the local Parent-Teachers' association to install a first class up-to-date kitchen at the local grammar school, in preparation for the serving of hot lunches to the children during the coming school year.

The local P. T. A. was rated high in the accomplishments at the state convention, which was held at Pasadena some time ago, on account of the serving of hot lunches to many of the children during the past year.

Mrs. Mary L. Stearns, who was in charge during the past year, has been secured to take control of the new kitchen next year.

El Modena News

EL MODENA, June 26.—Mrs. Friedenbloom and her daughter, Portia, have gone to Los Angeles for the summer.

Mrs. Ray Carter took a group of her Junior Christian Endeavorers to Whittier Sunday afternoon to attend the Junior meeting of the Friends Yearly meeting.

Mrs. W. F. Crist is reported in a very serious condition. The Misses Nellie, Orpha, and Elsie Crist have returned home from Yosemite.

Miss Edith Culter went to Los Angeles Tuesday to make arrangements for attending summer school at the University of California, Southern Branch. On Tuesday evening she left Los Angeles with a group of Christian Endeavorers for San Jose where the Christian Endeavor State convention begins there this week. She will attend the first week of summer school before returning home again.

Miss Grace Moody, accompanied by Miss Winifred Riddle of Orange, went to Whittier Sunday afternoon to attend the Executive Committee meeting of the Friends Christian Endeavor Union.

On Saturday evening Miss Irma Moody entertained the Sunday school orchestra at her home here. The first part of the evening was spent in the regular practice of the orchestra followed by a jolly hour of various games. Light refreshments were served to the following:

Mrs. Patton, Anna Griffith, Marie Rumph, Mary K. Lowry, Helen Parsons, Raymond Terry, Floyd Watson, Robert Lowry, Carl Warner, Paul Rumph, Mrs. Moody, Grace and Irma Moody, Glen and Kenyon Moody.

Word has been received concerning Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Marshburn to the effect that they are up above Eugene, Ore., visiting, Mrs. Marshburn's brother, Ray Barnett, who is located there with an engineering company, for the summer.

They have had a very pleasant trip and without the usual car trouble and are enjoying the beautiful mountain scenery, as well as a pleasant visit.

Lee Barnett's cousin, Miss Hazel Barnett, from Whiteboro, Texas, is here to spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett.

Old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Pleasant and daughter, Wilma, and son, Martin, have located here. At present they are living in the house recently occupied by Mrs. Crowell.

Miss Wilma Pleasant is attending summer school at the University of Southern California.

ARTESIAN WELL IS STAPPED BY OIL DRILL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 26.—What is believed to be a hidden river of pure artesian water, which has been sought here for years, is claimed to have been struck on the Winters Country club property near Wintersburg here yesterday in an oil well being put down by the club.

The well is reported as flowing over 4000 barrels of water per hour and has continued to do so during the past twenty-four hours, totaling 36,000 barrels of water.

The water was struck at an approximate depth of 2900 feet it was said, the well being cemented off at 2800 feet.

That the water encountered is some hidden river was the general opinion about the well today. The water which tests over 98 per cent pure comes from the hole with great force as if it were propelled by a great stream.

Old-timers about here declare that for many years they have been told that a hidden river of water ran under this territory and numerous wells are said to have been sunk in an effort to find the well.

With the discovery of this large water well it is believed that the company will suspend oil operations on the well and supply the surrounding country with drinking and irrigation water until other plans are formulated. That the city of Huntington Beach might make an attempt soon to purchase the well or water rights on this land to secure a permanent water supply, was hinted by numerous citizens.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., flees to Alaska, after being told by Ivan Ishmin, Russian violinist, he had drowned Paul Sanchez, Ishmin's secretary. Ishmin and Peter's wife, Dorothy, had urged him to go to South America. He joins Big Chris Larson in response to a distress signal at sea, giving Larson his sea jacket. Their launch hits rocks. Larson's body is buried as Newhall's. Peter, rescued, finds injuries have completely changed his appearance. Dorothy and Ishmin go to Alaska to return Peter's body. They do not recognize Peter in their dead guide. A storm strands them at the grave. "Change name," a message from a seance, Dorothy develops. Peter, telling her to accept Ishmin's marriage proposal. Upon Ishmin's return from a trip, Dorothy accepts his proposal for immediate marriage by a native priest. Ishmin plays their wedding music.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
At that instant he was whole worlds and centuries apart from her. She saw him as the Mongol, his slanted eyes alight, devoured by his oriental passion, lost in an alien ecstasy. She felt estranged, unspeakably terrified. Yet even now, as the music faded, she must stand beside him at this crude cross so white in the dusk. She must go to him, like a maiden sacrifice to some unearthly, heathen god. It mystified her, filled her with a poignant sense of imponderable prophecy, that the cross that marked the grave should be the only witness left in the spreading dusk.

She was hardly aware when the music stopped. The wind and the softer noises of the sea and the night continued its refrain. Ivan stepped beside her, then they walked together until they stood in the place where they would plight their vows.

In that moment Pavlov had become a figure of unmistakable dignity. He was no longer merely a packer, a degenerate descendant of many crossed breeds. He was the priest, the high ambassador of the church. He stood erect, his voice low and full of feeling, and it was plain that he considered this a holy rite, sacred to his heathen gods.

Ivan had not been mistaken in thinking that the ceremony would be impressive. Here were the eternal realities—the sea and the sky and the storm-swept shore—and the weird tone and quality of the night added to it an effect of dignity. The worship that thrived in Pavlov's tone was real, even if it were mistaken, even though he had turned away from the light to bow before graven images. It was exactly the kind of marriage that Ivan, in particular, would have preferred. It appealed to his eternal sense of fitness, the attribute of his genius; and it lifted him out of himself like the passion of his own great music.

Very soon the vows were spoken, and ignoring the presence of the priest and the two witnesses, Ivan took his bride in his arms. Pavlov shook hands with them both, himself carried away by exultation, and Fortune Joe came up clumsily to offer his good wishes. "We owe a lot to you," Ivan told him happily. "That message to 'change the name' that you brought through helped more than any other thing to make up Mrs. Ishmin's mind."

Dorothy turned, her heart leaping to receive Peter's congratulations, but the head guide still loitered in the dusk. In the same instant he was almost carried away by a half-mad impulse to take the girl in his arms for one kiss that by an old custom at weddings he might rightly claim. It would mean more to him, than mere beauty and loveliness; it would be a memory to harbor in the days to come and it would some way exalt him in ways beyond his ken. It was not just a whim, a delusion; all his longing and his loss had some way centered, for the instant, in this; and it was suddenly a veritable need. Some way that kiss would be an enduring token of what he had been and what he had given, and it would help sustain him in the darkening future. But he repelled the impulse with an iron will, wondering upon it signified the first wandering of insanity. Such an act would only put him to needless trial, open old wounds. She would know his lips of old and feel the love that poured through them; he might, by one selfish act, risk the inviolacy of his disguise. Even yet it might cost her her happiness.

"Aren't you going to wish us well, Pete?" he heard the girl say in the dusk.

Her tremulous voice brought him to himself. "In just a minute," he answered as casually as he could. "I've got to get the camp ready for you first. After that I'll give you all the good wishes that I know."

He turned, groping into the gloom, and lifted his face to the doubtful mercy of the wind. It swept by him, chanting, into the darknesses of the night, and he wondered if it would not blow out the wan flame of his own life. He had a feeling that oblivion was near; that somehow, because the need of him was done, the curtain would soon fall over his own existence. Surely it was futile henceforth; the drama was concluded, the game was through and the counters put away.

He felt that the will to fight on—without which he could not survive in this hostile land—had departed for good and all. Already he could glimpse this stormy shore without him, the wind shrieking by, unheard by human ears, the snow lying untracked, the storm venting itself in vain fury on the desolate hillsides. His four companions would sail away on the morrow; and there might be a time of waiting—perhaps long years, possibly only months—for the final wind-up of his destiny, but the ultimate conquest of the raw powers of the wild was certain as the rising sun. The camp fire would burn and smothered at last by the far-spreading blanket of snow, and the last wisp of smoke—like an intangible human soul—blow away in the gust. Then the joke would be complete.

The game was played and finished. This now was only the epilogue of a drama that was done.

It was an ironic thing that the performance of his camp duties—not even now to be forgotten—must include the widening of the bed in Dorothy's tent where the wedded pair would lie. He knelt and cut long grass, heaped it into a pile, and then loaded it into his great arms. Strangely dulled—partly from the events of the past hour and partly, perhaps, from the effects of yesterday's injury—he made his way to the door of Dorothy's tent through which Ivan and the girl had just passed. "Can I come in?" he called. "I've got more hay for your bunk."

Ivan had just closed the tent flap, but Dorothy drew it quickly aside. Pete did not look into her white face as he stumbled in. Fortunately for his peace of mind, he did not see that she was pale and drawn as he had never before seen her. He knelt on the floor and began the work of widening her bunk. He built it up with all the care he knew, spread the blankets, then slowly stood erect. He turned with the air of a prophet to Ivan.

"We've talked intimately before," he began quietly.

"Yes," Ivan agreed. "Perhaps too intimately."

He studied Pete's

"WHICH IS THE BEST BREED ISN'T THE QUESTION."

set face, and his brows lowered. "That doesn't necessarily mean we will talk intimately again."

"We will talk intimately again." There was nothing in his straightforward gaze and firm lips to suggest the underling. "This is the last chance—you are going away tomorrow in the dory—I stay here; I've come in here to wish you happiness, particularly to wish her happiness, but I've got something else to say, too."

His voice was deep and moving, and Ivan knew that he could not help but hear.

"Your wife didn't ask me to say this, but there's no one else to do it—no one of her own kin who would have the right to say it. My right is that the girl is my own race, and I am hers—and there's no one else here who is her own race. I understand her because she's an Anglo-Saxon, and I can speak for her. We talked once before about race—which is the best breed isn't the question tonight. The point is—that they are a different breed. I know her because she's my own race—and race matters more than most people know. And because I've been out here—so far west that it's almost east—for months and years—I know you, too."

Ivan smiled, his thin lips closely pressed. "You seem to have forgotten you're the guide—not a family advisor. Please give Mrs. Ishmin your best wishes and get out."

They looked eyes into eyes. Slowly the look of scorn, of arrogance passed from the Mongol's face. This man might be of a lower social plane, of different caste and class, but Ivan could not doubt what he saw in the blue, steadfast eyes. This was no mental. He saw in him a worthy representative of a proud, unquerable race. They were man to man, the East and the West, and Ivan looked and knew that he must listen and heed. He might hate him to the world's end—the East has always hated the conquering West—but he dared not scorn or disregard him. Pete's gaze neither changed nor lowered.

"I am the guide—I'm here to tell you that I've been her guide and protector for some weeks, now; and it's come to me that I want to continue to be, even after she goes home," Pete replied. "Just why this is so I don't feel the need of explaining, even if it is so. I want to be something more, too. Tonight I'm no longer under your employ, and I want you to imagine that I'm her real brother—instead of just a race brother. Ishmin, I know your breed, part by instinct, part by acquaintance, and I know you individually, and this is in the nature of a warning. Remember she's a finer clay than you. I know your attitude toward women, but I want to say in this case you've married above you, forever and ever, and I want you to bear it in mind. Worship her, and thank God for her, and be kind to her, every minute of every hour."

The girl tried to speak, but the words choked her, and Ivan's eyes glittered under his brows. "I heard what you said. You've gone insane. Now get out."

"One thing more. I'm not only her protector. This may sound insane, as you say, but both of you know it's true. Who gave the word that this marriage should take place?"

LAUDS COUNTY HE AIDED IN BUILDING

"When the All Wise created Orange county he laid the foundation for prosperity here by endowing it with rich soils and other advantages that makes agricultural life worth while."

J. F. Corbett, former real estate man of Santa Ana and the original salesman in the disposing of lots at Huntington Beach, today lauds the foregoing paragraph following an absence from the city for twenty years.

At a recent meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, Corbett recounted in an interesting way some of the early history of Orange county, dealing with the opening of Huntington Beach, the growing of celery in the peatlands and the development of walnut and citrus culture here.

"Your lands here are returning interest on the high prices being asked—that is high prices as compared with what they were when I was engaged here in the selling of real estate," said the visitor, who now resides at Long Beach.

"Outside of Los Angeles, there has been no greater advance anywhere in the state than here in Orange county. It seems marvelous to me, after absence of twenty years.

"One of the greatest projects before the people of Orange county today is the harbor at Newport Beach. A wonderful opportunity for further development of the county lies in the harbor. It has ample dimensions and ideal location for industry. There is room there is need for the port—even though it is located near Los Angeles harbor."

Berlin, June 26.—The newest thing in wireless is a midget radio set retailing for $1.75 which makes every man his own antenna when he is carrying the outfit in his pocket. The antenna is located in the wearer's hat, with a wire leading to the other parts of the apparatus.

Otto Maresch, the German inventor of the set, claims that by use of it it is possible for persons to walk along city streets and, with receivers adjusted to their ears, hear concerts, news and other radio programs which are being broadcast.

One company which started manufacturing the midget set received 40,000 orders the first week. The demand for them is so great that other firms are also making them by the thousands. Herr Maresch says that it is quite likely that within a few months it will be possible to manufacture a complete radio set even smaller than the midget one, which will retail for a dollar and possibly less.

CAMPBELL PRINTING SHOP IN NEW HOME

The new home of the Gilbert P. Campbell printing establishment at 211 North Main street, next to the city hall, is said to be the best lighted and best ventilated print shop in Orange county. The company has just moved from the Masonic building at Fifth and Sycamore streets.

With a ceiling containing many skylights and with two walls of windows, the new Campbell shop has more natural light than any similar shop in the county, according to Campbell. Two-way suction fans for ventilating also have been installed.

Ever since Benjamin Franklin and Horace Greeley made print shops famous, the printers' workroom has been generally considered as a dark, dingy, ink-smelling place of confusion. At the Campbell shop, however, the walls and ceilings are white and spotless. Type cases, "stones" and other tables and all of the machinery and other equipment have been arranged neatly and with a view of saving many steps for the workmen.

SEWER LINE TO BE AIMED FOR METROPOLIS

"Within thirty days Santa Ana will have sewer facilities along Fourth street, from Ross to French streets, capable of accommodating a line of skyscrapers on both sides of the street," City Engineer W. G. Knox declared today.

Workmen yesterday and today were cutting the pavement between the railroad tracks on Fourth street, beginning at Ross and continuing east, and actual digging of a trench for laying the ten-inch sewer line will be started tomorrow morning, according to Knox.

The new sewer will join the Ross-street line which empties into the twelve-inch main line at First street. The proposed line will accommodate downtown blocks which have been connected with an overburdened line further east on First street, it was said.

In addition to relieving the upper First street sewer, Knox declared, the new Fourth street line will eliminate the necessity for the present smaller sewer line which penetrates alleys and basements of many stores and office buildings.

The cost for construction of the new line is $958, the contract having been awarded the Los Angeles firm of G. M. Wuectich and D. G. Dakovich. The work is to be completed within thirty days, according to the terms of the contract.

Beginning at 8 a. m. tomorrow, the Pacific Electric trains from Los Angeles will make Fourth and Ross streets their terminal, it was announced, while busses will com-

Beach Lions To Play Baseball

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 26.—Fifteen members of the local Lions club met last night at the high school baseball diamond here for their first practice period before the big game with the Southern California Edison company team, Saturday afternoon. ## A PUZZLE A DAY

A farmer had five pens, arranged as shown in the drawing. Each side of every pen was a single bar.

The farmer found that by moving three of the bars, he could decrease the number of pens to four; which would be of the same size, as the original five. None of the bars would be left over; all would be utilized.

Can you discover the new arrangement of the bars?

EVENING SALUTATION

Do noble things, not dream them, all day long;
And so make life, death, and that vast Forever
One grand, sweet song.

—Kingsley.

TWO OUTLETS TO THE SEA

The proposed deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea, via the St. Lawrence River, is looking up. The Republican platform has endorsed it. The Democratic platform is expected to do likewise. Secretary Hoover, speaking not only as a government official but as an expert engineer, declares himself in favor of the project.

Mr. Hoover says that he is sure it will be accomplished sooner or later, by the pressure of opinion in the middle states, where it is felt as an economic necessity. There is general support given by most other sections on the ground that anything improving transportation facilities in one part of the country benefits the country as a whole. Only New York and New England remain hostile or doubtful.

The New York World, which has never been enthusiastic about the plan, probably expresses the best eastern opinion in refraining from outright opposition, and saying: "If the canal is undertaken, and if then New York, with its ice-free port, its low-gradient feeder railways and the longer open season on its own Barge canal, cannot meet the competition, that fact will be in itself the most convincing proof that the St. Lawrence project was necessary."

It is quite possible that before another decade has passed, the swelling traffic between the interior and the eastern seaboard will require both canals.

The accident experienced by Major Martin teaches another lesson. No mountain should be permitted to park without showing a tail-light.—Marion Star.

AN ITALIAN REVOLT

There is a revolt against Fascism in Italy, within the government and among the people. The murder of a Socialist member of Parliament by members of the Fascist party has precipitated a crisis.

Trouble has really been gathering ever since the Black Shirt dictatorship began, two years ago, though until recently it was obscured by the outward prosperity of the country and by the rigid censorship maintained. Now, with uncensored news leaking out of Rome and northern Italy, it is clear that Mussolini's power is weakened, that there are grave governmental scandals, and that there is needed a thorough housecleaning and return to government which shall be not only orderly but lawful and fair.

The situation is such as intelligent observers have been forecasting ever since Mussolini, with an armed mob at his back, seized the government and made himself another Caesar. It is not enough, in Italy or any other free country, that a government shall be strong, patriotic and conservative. The means used are as important as the end sought. It is found that violence done in the name of conservatism is no better than violence done in the name of radicalism.

Creating all men free and equal isn't enough; some means must be devised to keep them free and equal.—Columbia Record.

A MOTHER GOOSE TEST

Applicants for jobs as children's library assistants in an Eastern state have to pass examinations like any college student at this time of the year. But with what a difference!

Read over a few of the questions appearing in one such quiz and see if it doesn't do pleasant things to your bored or worried mind.

"For what person or persons was the wool of the black sheep destined?"

"How many court musicians were maintained at the court of old King Cole?"

"Name and describe article on which Miss Muffet sat."

Others might be quoted or imagined for oneself, but these are enough to suggest that life is not all dull labor. Or is it possible that the library student finds these questions as troublesome and difficult in hot weather as other exam-takers find their questions on more complex subjects?

If business would only get as dull as the pessimists expect it to be, everybody could give adequate attention to politics.

The experiment is worth while, anyway. We wait eagerly to see a veteran eating his insurance policy.—Springfield (Ohio) Sun.

THE BALANCE WHEEL

During the first five months of the year, the new building started in the United States aggregated $2,200,000,000. This is called "a new high record for all time," which in the case of the United States is "some record."

It is mainly the building industry that has held the industrial system steady, when there has been less activity than usual in certain industries. Building has justified its characterization as the "balance wheel of industry." It has taken up the slack of the other industries, keeping nearly all the available workmen employed and sustaining wages and general prosperity.

Talking about extra-hazardous risks. Great Britain wants an American to act as chairman of the Irish Free State-Ulster boundary dispute commission.—Marion Star.

Orange county produced 46,262,288 barrels of oil last year and as this oil was worth $40,000,000 it contributed very perceptibly to the prosperity of the county. Los Angeles county produced 157,019,690 barrels and Kern county was third in the list with 44,949,852 barrels. Other producing counties in the state were: Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo and Santa Clara.—Riverside Press.

"MR. PICKFORD" IN GERMANY

Our "Doug" and "Mary" are in Germany, being followed after and feted as usual.

Great are movies, and great are movie stars, to break down barriers of class and race. Perhaps film actors of the best type are really the best diplomats, most useful in promoting friendly international relations. But that is not the present point.

In Germany, dispatches say, the two are not Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks. They are not Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks. They are "Frau and Herr Pickford."

That for the famous Douglas!

The "death ray" seems to have petered out, but here is real news: You can exterminate the black-and-yellow-striped cucumber beetle by dusting the cucumber, squash and melon vines with one part of calcium arsenate to 20 parts gypsum.

Surely the humane people of California will not let the sacrifice of more than a score of young lives at Playa del Rey go without bearing fruit for reform. That tragedy should bring about complete elimination of all firetraps which house defectives and unfortunates in all parts of the state. The building which is especially hazardous as to fire should be condemned and abandoned. Buildings which shelter the helpless and defective should be fireproof. The greatest possible measure of safety should be thrown around these miserable creatures, whose sad plight calls for the exercise of charity and benevolence.—Long Beach Press.

Conventions Are Gold Mines

L. P. Kirby in Popular Finance

Why does every city big enough to be in the running go after a national convention whenever there is the slightest prospect of success in the efforts? It is because national conventions are great prizes, bringing thousands of dollars into the cities in which they are held, advertising the cities in which they are held, advertising the cities and promising numerous other advantages, such as attracting new buyers and forming new and advantageous business ties.

In 1920 the Republican convention attracted upward of 100,000 persons to Chicago. These visitors spent more than $10,000,000. Chicago has been the scene of numerous political conventions. It has found that they stimulate business not only while the sessions are under way, but afterward. Its business men are ever ready to subscribe to a fund to seek a big convention. In the same year San Francisco housed 40,000 visitors brought there by the Democratic convention. These visitors spent more than $5,000,000. It increased the normal monthly business of the city 50 per cent.

Estimates are that more than 150,000 persons will be drawn to New York this year for the Democratic convention. They will spend approximately $15,000,000. Cleveland will have more than 80,000 visitors, attracted there next week by the Republican convention. These visitors, according to estimates, will spend $5,000,000 or $10,000,000, or even more—quite an addition to be added to the purchasing power of a city.

Is that money wasted? Not all of it. Interest in government is a citizen's duty, and money spent in keeping in touch with political movements is well spent. Apart from this, all activity is part of human life and it is only through money spent that business continues. Thrift, the ability to save, is a quality that every man should cultivate, but there are extremes even in this virtue. If all money were hoarded, business would come to an end. It is the spirit of hoarding that presents one of the problems over which statesmen in Europe, busy with reconstruction, are worrying.

No Irrigation Deadlock

Long Beach Press

The Pacific Southwest wants the surplus water of the Colorado River, for irrigation purposes, chiefly for domestic use as the need arises. Of equal importance is power generation, and the protection of developed lands against overflow. The necessity for increased hydroelectric generation is emphasized by today's conditions in California, with lightning restricted and industry hampered because of drought.

The people of the Pacific Southwest may have well formulated ideas regarding what should be done to bring the Colorado river to their greater service. They have heard about the Boulder Canyon Dam, and they are for it because they believe that it will do all of the things which they believe should be done for the common welfare. If there is some better plan, as certain engineers connected with the government profess to believe, the people will not oppose a change of operations; but they will oppose an indefinite postponement of a vital public work.

Prospective rights of the United States and Mexico should be readjusted. The greater length of the Colorado river in the United States, and the greater proportion of the water should be allotted to the American side. There should be no deadlock over this or any other point in controversy. Water is needed, and so is farming area, and electric power, and flood control. The Colorado should be dammed and harnessed. It should be the object neither of an engineering filibuster, or a corporation war, or a political dispute.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

MOUTH OR BREATH ODORS

It has been well said that in a perfectly healthy individual there is no odor whatever from the breath. However, that must be qualified to this extent, that after eating certain forms of food there is bound to be an odor therefrom for some time afterwards.

But an odor that is present practically all the time is not normal, and should be investigated. Some forms of food, if not completely digested in the intestine, meats and eggs very often, and particularly where the intestinal movement is slow or sluggish, are responsible for much of the bad odors from the breath. Anyone much below normal in health, with a generally run down condition would naturally have this sluggishness along the intestine, and have the same distressing symptom.

One of the most frequent causes, and the one perhaps best known, is the chronic nasal catarrh from which many people suffer. This may be due to local conditions in the nose such as an inflammation of the membrane covering the small bones in the passage, a bending over of the wall that separates the nostrils, or any growth.

This means that the mucous matter that should be removed is allowed to remain, becomes very dry, and gives off a disagreeable odor.

Sometimes it is due to a pair of tonsils which are congested, the material exuding from them becoming very thick. And bad teeth as you know is one of the most frequent causes of bad breath. Perhaps you have a perfectly normal set of teeth, healthy gums and tonsils, and no trace of catarrh or other trouble in the nose or throat. You have watched the intestine closely, and despite all your care and thought you have still the door on the breath.

In such a case there is just this to remember, that perhaps your kidneys are not getting rid of their wastes properly.

That would mean that your skin and also your lungs would have to do some of this extra work. Accordingly, the blood going to the lungs with this waste, has some of it removed there, and it comes away in the breath when you breathe out the air from the lungs.

All the advertised preparations for keeping the mouth clean and the breath sweet are good, because the basis of their effect depends upon the boric acid in them.

A quarter teaspoonful to a half glass of warm or hot water, used as a mouth wash, will help the mouth itself.

But remember the cause of the trouble may be elsewhere in the body.

SUMMER

The Summer, the divinest Summer burns,
The skies are bright with azure and with gold,
The mavis and the nightingale by turns
Amid the woods a soft enchantment hold:
The flowering woods, with glory and delight,
Their tender leaves unto the air have spread;
The wanton air, amid their alleys bright,
Doth softly fly, and a light fragrance shed:
The nymphs within the silver fountains play,
The angels on the golden banks recline,
Wherein great Flora, in her bright array,
Hath sprinkled her ambrosial sweets divine:
Or, else, I gaze upon that beauteous face,
O Amoret! and think these sweets have place.
—Lord Thurlow.

Are You Your Own Wet Blanket

Sunset for July

If it had not been for the disturbed and apprehensive state of mind of the Nation, business activity in spring and summer should have surpassed the record of the like period in 1923. Throughout the country the buying power has not been diminished; many farmers, notably the cotton and wool growers, the corn and flax producers and others, are far more prosperous than they were for a year ago. Labor continued to be fully employed at high wages and the railroads hauled maximum tonnage. From the domestic standpoint, there was and is every reason to expect a continuance of prosperity, and international developments were so bright that they should have filled the American business soul with a supersaturated solution of double-strength optimism.

The Dawes report—perhaps the sanest, most reasonable and hopeful document produced since the Armistice—was accepted in principle by every interested government. Ramsay MacDonald and Poincare got together in an effort to reconcile the British and the French attitude; the German elections developed no symptoms of renewed resistance. On every hand there seemed to be an apparently sincere desire to put the plan of the Dawes commission into effect and see how it would work. This conciliatory stand of the European powers would have been a sufficient base for increased American activities if it had not been wet-blanketed by our own unreasonable and groundless fears.

Ask the next calamity-howler to give definite reasons for this blue funk. If he can't hit him on the mental jaw and make him cease his croakings. Under present conditions the gloom spreader is the most dangerous and most expensive member of the community.

Worth While Verse

WHERE RUNS THE RIVER

Where runs the river? Who can say
Who hath not followed all the way
By alders green and sedges gray
And blossoms blue?

Where runs the river? Hill and wood
Curve round to hem the eager flood;
It cannot straighten as it would
Its path pursue.

Yet this we know: O'er whatso plains
Or rocks or waterfalls it strains,
At last, the vast the stream attains;
And I, and you.

—Francis William Bourdillon.

Time to Smile

HER FATAL CHARM.

A mother-in-law was in the habit of visiting her daughter just often enough to make her daughter's husband wish he had married an orphan.

One day she arrived and found her daughter in tears.

"What has happened? Has George deserted you? Has he run away?"

"Y-yes." (Sobbing.)

"Then there is a woman in the case; who is she?"

"Y-you!" (Sobbing.)

"Good heavens! And to think that I never encouraged him!"

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Page

Pop was smoking to himself and ma sed, Willyum, wat do you think?

I think its going to be a hot summer, pop sed starting to take off his collar and neck tie.

No, I meen wat do you think Nina Bird and Ed Ruff are ingaged to be married, I got an announcement today, ma sed.

Have they bin told yet? pop sed. Sutch a question, I dont see wat Ed Ruff sees in that Bird girl, I must say, ma sed. In the first place she's sutch a queer looking girl with her round eyes and pointy nose, and my goodness, she's so consocted I dont see how she can stand having herself around, and not any that but her people are something terrible, to judge from different things I've herd, so wat does he see in her, that wat I want to know? she sed.

Perhaps he was only attracted by her and meerly fell in love with her, pop sed, and ma sed, Well enway, I must call up his mother and acknowledge the announcement.

Wich she did, calling her up on the telephone and saying, Is that you, Mrs. Ruff? I want to congratulate you on the good news, because I certenly think they are an ideal couple and Ed couldnt possberly of found a sweeter girl. She puts up sutch a nice appearance, too, and lots of people consider her reely bewtifful. And her folks are so lovely, and after all that's the main thing, izent it? ma sed.

Yee gods, can you beet it? pop sed.

And he got behind the sporting page and ma tawked some more to Mrs. Ruff and then hung up the receiver and started to darn holes out of stockings, mostly mine.

IN THE LONG AGO

14 Years Ago Today
From the Register Files

JUNE 26, 1910.

Held to answer by Justice Smithwick, Rosario Sainz, extradited from Mexico, must face a jury trial in the superior court for the murder of Jose Machado.

The board of supervisors announced it would meet as a board of equalization July 5-18. The Orange County Illinois association held its annual picnic at Birch park here. Among those on the program were Judge Z. B. West, Clyde Bishop, J. S. Brooks and Miss Frances Bruner.

The graduating class of the Santa Ana high school presented its play, "Lover's Lane" at the Grand Opera house last night.

The proposal of the county board of supervisors to purchase the Dr. Head place at Buaro as a site for the county hospital probably will not go through. The county offered to pay $17,000 for the forty-three acres but H. H. Lewis, the owner, wanted more.

Long Life in California

Riverside Press

A number of people residing in Oakland have incorporated the California Life Extension association. Lest there be a natural error of conception, haste is made to say that this is not a monkey gland coterie, but a group of people bent on the lengthening of human life along strictly scientific and natural lines. They have no thought of rolling back the years for octogenarians, but they do expect to extend the possible years for the infants. They expect to carry on an educational campaign for the promotion of all things which help to develop the body, keep healthy the mind, create disease prevention conditions, or rather destroy disease spreading conditions, and spread general knowledge of the rules of hygiene, dietetics, prophylaxis, disease prevention and healthful living. As a result they expect that more infants will survive the perils of infancy, more boys and girls will be given sound bodies and learn how to care for them and more men and women will exceed the life span assigned them in the expectation of life tables of the insurance companies.

There is nothing so peculiar about this that it should be considered especially Californian. To be sure California enjoys in common with all the western states natural conditions of life which make for longevity. There is one town in the Golden State which advertises itself as "The Long-Life Town," but as a matter of fact the whole west might so proclaim itself. However, whether one lives in a health resort or in the slum districts of a city, there are rules of right living which will prolong life. Even the "daily dozen" exercise is not to be disposed, nor the cleansing and revivifying bath, nor the toothbrush, nor the drinking copiously of water between meals and not at meals, nor the many other rules of life which the enlightened know, even if they do not follow. All these are possible wherever one may live and their observance will give lengthening of days to those who obey them.

Personal observance of health rules, however, is not entirely protective even to the observer of them. General conditions in a community or even around isolated homes have their effect upon mortality tables. The slum dweller in the city, with poor sanitation of buildings and unclean streets, is no worse off than the family dwelling in an isolated farm house, where rubbish is allowed to collect, where there is poor drainage for slops or none at all and where the well or the spring is contaminated by drainage from the surface or underground from the barns and stables. There is also much neglect of dietetics and personal and general prophylaxis in the country as in the city. Indeed, so far as good drinking water, pure milk, sewerage, and disease prevention and means of cure, the city is now in advance of the country. There is plenty of opportunity for life extension work everywhere so far as teaching the people the rules of right living and bodily development and health is concerned.

An Old-Fashioned Fellow

Kansas City Star

There is a quaint old gentleman out in our neighborhood whose peculiar ways have attracted a good deal of attention. He wears whiskers, for one thing, albeit he keeps them well trimmed. He dresses neatly, though he still wears a tie, despite the fact that it isn't done. One suspects that his vest conceals a pair of galluses. There is something about his hats, too, that suggest a day gone by. But it isn't his apparel that particularly singles him out for notice. It's his queer ways—the odd things he does and says.

He has a habit, for instance, of speaking to people he passes, wishing them a good day and looking at them as if he had a real interest in their welfare. Neighbors have noticed that he often touches little children on the head as he walks along whether he knows them or not, and the children don't seem to mind it. He never seems to be in a hurry to board a street car, always standing to one side until the waiting groups have entered. If he gets a seat in the car, he sweeps his eye down the aisle to see if there is a woman standing and he is the first to offer her a seat. He created much amusement one day by giving his seat to a negro woman with a baby on one arm and a filled basket on the other. He likes to talk to the passengers, and while some of them seem to resent it, the most of them don't because he has quite a pleasant smile.

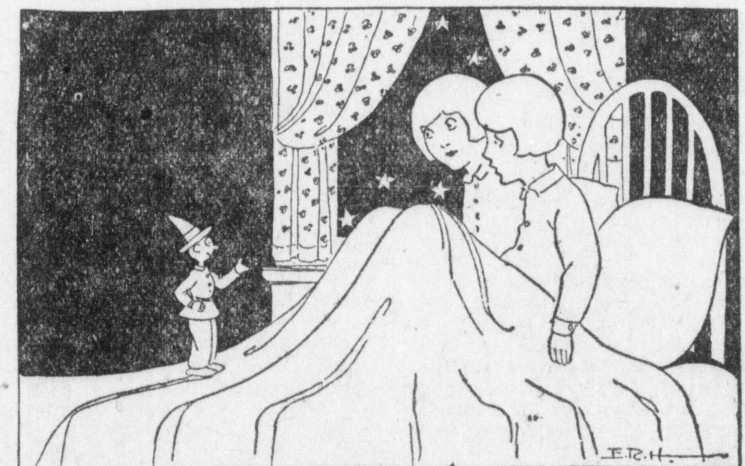

But it's the odd things he says that sometimes make people wonder. To a woman who was complaining about the outrageous conduct of some of the bobbed "freshies," he said, "Well, they're only young once." When a man started to argue politics with him, he said, rather absent mindedly, "It's a great country, isn't it, in spite of it all." Once he made an answer that brought a rude stare from a neighbor who had hazarded the remark that "business was going to the dogs." He said, "I heard a thrush singing when I got up this morning." He often talks of the "good old times" of a generation ago, but he always adds with an apologetic air, "I guess, though, the boys were no better and the girls no sweeter than they are to-day." He has a peculiar habit of stopping to watch little newsboys late in the evening and he had been known to buy a proffered paper when he already had one in his hand.

An old-fashioned fellow and full of queer tricks like these he is, but somehow everybody out in his neighborhood likes to see him come along. They are getting used to his old-fashioned ways.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 15—A TRIP TO SPAIN

"Tira-Lira-Loo!" called Johnny Jump Up. "Wake up, Nancy and Nick."

"I'm awake!" answered Nick quickly. "So am I," said Nancy. "Are we going away, Johnny?"

"We're going to Spain," said the little garden fairy. "Tommy Titmouse is all ready and waiting."

Soon both of them were dressed and Johnny Jump Up gave them the magic shoes which they put on. They began to shrink up until you could have put the two of them into a mustard pod.

Then out of the window, and down the vine they crept, and there they were in the garden. "I hope you will have a nice time," called the fairy from the red rose.

"Don't you hope I'll have a nice time, too?" inquired Tommy Titmouse. "Are there any bugs and worms in Spain?"

"The little Spanish lady laughed. 'Yes, of course, there are, Tommy. As big as alligators.' 'Huh? What's that?' cried the little bird. 'Then you can just go there without me. Maybe the bugs in Spain eat the birds instead of the birds eating the bugs.'"

"Oh, come on, Tommy," said Johnny Jump Up. "Now who is doing so much talking? Here, punch these tickets and we'll be going."

"Are the bugs as big as alligators, honest?" asked Tommy nervously. "No, I was only fooling," laughed the little rose fairy merrily. "Go on! You'll have a good time."
